Village orders cost study for sidewalk plan

Approval of a sidewalk program along major roads in Arlington Heights was postponed Tuesday night by the village board's finance committee until the cost to the village is determined.

The committee directed the village administration to determine what portion of the program involves single-family residential lots, because under the village's sidewalk policy passed in March 1975, the village will pay half the cost of sidewalks installed on such lots.

The village has set aside $50,000 in the 1976-77 budget for the major thoroughfare sidewalk program. "A good portion of this is commercial and multifamily. The $50,000 might cover us," Trustee Frank Palmatier, chairman of the committee, said.

THE PROGRAM calls for sidewalk installation to fill gaps in areas along Dundee, Rand, Palatine, Arlington Heights, Wilke, Central, Golf and Algonquin roads, as well as Oakton, Sigwalt and Davis streets.

The policy of having the village pay half the cost of residential sidewalks was criticized by Trustee August Bettman.

"It's unfair to all those people who have paid for their own sidewalks, especially those who have recently paid for them through special assessements," Bettman said. "I don't see how you can justify that now they must pay for other people's sidewalks through the village taxes."

The new policy was defended by Palmatier and Trustee Madeleine Schroeder.

"The main purpose of this is to facilitate the sidewalk program and get it out of the quagmire of controversy that has beset the sidewalk program for several years. I think this policy will greatly expedite the program and reduce the controversy," Palmatier said.

Mrs. Schroeder said "there is a definite rationale for the participation of the whole village in paying for sidewalks along major thoroughfares because the whole of the village benefits from those sidewalks.

"IN MOST RESIDENTIAL areas, there is not such a safety problem," she said.

Palmatier and Bettman did agree that the sidewalk construction must be done by private contractors to keep the costs down.

Village Engineer Allen Sander said the cost of sidewalk installation is now about $9 per lineal foot if done by a private contractor, but at least 20 per cent higher if paid by special assessment because of legal and court costs.

Acting troupe quality focus of theater battle

by JOE SWICKARD

The artistic stature of the Free Street Theater troupe has emerged as a key issue in the legal wrangling for control of the Arlington Park Theater, Arlington Heights.

Keep Production, the theater's management company headed by producer David Lonn, is being sued by Madison Square Garden Corp. because of an alleged contract violation. Madison Square Garden Corp. owns the entertainment complex that includes the Arlington Park Hilton Hotel, the Arlington Park Race Track and the theater.

Madison Square Garden contends in a suit before Judge Donald J. O'Brien, presiding judge of the chancery division of Cook County Circuit Court that Lonn's presentation of the Free Street Theater does not live up to the standards of "live legitimate theatrical productions" as specified in the contract.

AN ATTORNEY for Madison Square Garden characterized Lonn's plan to book the Free Street Theater at Arlington Park through May as "an anticipatory breach of contract."

Howard Emmerman, Keep Productions attorney, said the troupe has a successful record of attracting audiences and is "as alive and theatrical as any group."

Charles Dickey, vice president and general counsel for Madison Square Garden, said contract negotiations, concluded less than a year ago, centered on bringing "first-class stars" and productions to the 750-seat theater. Dickey said the productions discussed "were a starring vehicle for a known person."

UNDER QUESTIONING by Madison Square Garden attorney Martin Ruken, Lonn said past plays at the

An Easter wish from a veteran

A greeting card would be so nice

Does anyone out there remember a long ago neighbor named Albert Yurosky? It might take some deep thinking. He moved away from Arlington Heights when our country's President was a five-star general.

Yurosky lives in McDonald, Pa. He writes quite a few letters. One arrived at The Herald last Saturday.

"To the Editor, Dear Sir,

"I lived in Arlington Heights in 1954 for 11 months. I am a disabled veteran of World War II. I was wounded three times in action in the Battle of the Bulge.

"I HAD SEVEN operations and had to have my left leg amputated, and I had four more operations afterwards. I now have very poor circulation in my right leg and may lose it anytime at all.

"It would make me very happy if you would please have my letter published in the Arlington Heights newspaper. It would make me very happy to receive get well cards, Easter cards or birthday cards to cheer me up.

"My birthday is the 20th of April. I will be 51 years old. Receiving mail makes me very happy and it gives me something to look forward to. Thank you."

There is no getting better for Albert Yurosky. His condition can only remain stable or more likely, it can get worse.

Yurosky is single. He hasn't worked any job in more than 30 years, and to this day he cannot always move around well enough to get his own mail.

Today

Mike Klein's people

YUROSKY SAID he does not remember very much about Arlington Heights. He came here with his late sister, Margaret Doak, in 1954. She worked in a restaurant. He could not remember which one.

They lived someplace near the business district. He could not recall which street.

"Right in the center of town," Yurosky said.

It's been a long time. Yurosky wondered whether The Herald is a weekly newspaper. I asked if there might be some old friends I could contact.

"Didn't know too many people there," he said. "Eleven months wasn't too long. Some Polish people I remember, but I don't know their names."

SEVENTEEN-YEAR-OLD Albert Yurosky enlisted in the U.S. Army during 1942.

"I had to have my dad sign," he said.

It was perhaps second nature to enlist in behalf of America's defense. His brothers, John, Andrew and William, also served in the Army.

Yurosky was a sergeant and member of the Second Indianhead division in December 1944. That's when Nazi Germany's sagging war machine began its final thrust against the Allied Western Front.

This was the Battle of the Bulge.

Shrapnel struck down 19-year-old Yurosky, crushing him above both knees. Twenty months of treatment followed at hospitals in Paris, New York City and Pittsburgh.

HE COULD WALK then, but not well enough to get back into construction labor, his job before enlisting in the Army.

So Yurosky did not work. He stayed home, lived with relatives and nursed his painful legs.

Doctors had told him many years

Reagan owes $1 million; $750,000 Ford surplus

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Ronald Reagan's presidential campaign was $1 million in debt April 1, while President Ford's had a surplus of about $750,000, official financial reports showed Tuesday.

Financial reports on file with the Federal Election Commission showed that all the presidential contenders except Ford were sorely in need of the federal campaign funds, which were cut off March 23 under a Supreme Court order.

House-Senate conferees agreed Tuesday on legislation to put the commission back in business, but no further action is expected before early May.

Pending before the FEC, meanwhile, are requests for nearly $1.3 million in federal matching money.

FUND REPORTS for Jimmy Carter and George Wallace had not been received. Morris Udall showed a $250,000 deficit, and Henry Jackson had a surplus of $150,000.

Reagan's financially troubled campaign was helped by his nationwide television show, which cost him $100,000 but raised $75,000. Those funds were not counted in the April 1 report.

Most of his debts were for fund-raising and campaign expenses including airplane rentals.

The report also showed Ford had pulled ahead of Reagan in fund-raising for the first time in the campaign. Ford has raised a total of $7.5 million, Reagan $7.3 million. The totals include about $2 million in federal funds received by Ford and $1.7 million by Reagan.

REAGAN'S LONE primary victory in North Carolina was expensive, the reports showed. He spent $359,823 to Ford's $195,804.

Reagan outspent Ford heavily — $659,580 to $551,780 — in the Florida primary, which the President won. The former California governor also spent more in unsuccessful primaries in New Hampshire and Massachusetts.

Ford outspent Reagan in Wisconsin and Illinois, both of which he won.

THE REPORTS showed the delegate-rich California and Texas primaries now are the two main targets of the GOP contenders. Ford already has spent $140,000 in Texas and $178,000 in California. Reagan has spent $97,000 in Texas and $96,000 in his home state.

The Texas primary is May 1, the California voting on June 8.

Ford has asked the FEC for another $701,000 in federal money, while Reagan has asked for $282,000. Among the Democrats, Udall has asked for $128,000 and Carter for $57,000.

Patty to face Harrises at court hearing today

LOS ANGELES, (UPI) — Patricia Hearst, reportedly so afraid of William and Emily Harris that she refers to them as "A" and "B," comes face to face with her former captors today in a county courtroom where all three are charged with kidnaping and assault.

Already convicted of bank robbery and given a temporary federal sentence of 35 years, the 22-year-old heiress was to be flown to Los Angeles from San Francisco for what was expected to be a very brief court appearance.

Afterwards she was scheduled to be taken to San Diego for 90 days of psychiatric examination in the Metropolitan Correction Center before final sentence is imposed in the San Francisco case.

Miss Hearst had been expected to enter a plea of not guilty before Superior Court Judge Mark Brandler, but the plea may be delayed in view of the 90-day delay before she can go to trial.

Nicklas now the winner of Harper seat

Jessalyn Nicklas

A mix-up in counting the votes in the Harper Community College Board of Trustees election last Saturday resulted in the wrong candidate being declared a winner. In a canvass of the vote Tuesday night, Board Pres. Shirley Munson said incumbent board member Jessalyn Nicklas, Inverness, officially received 5,087 votes to candidate Stephen Carponelli's 5,023 votes. The mix-up occurred in Mount Prospect Precinct 7 and resulted in Carponelli erroneously being declared the winner by 36 votes. The official winners were Mrs. Nicklas with 5,087 votes and incumbent Mrs. Munson with 6,779 votes.

Area police join hunt for woman

Local police and the FBI are investigating the disappearance of the California businesswoman whose abandoned sports car was found in Rolling Meadows late Monday. The auto belonging to Evelyn Axlerod, Sherman Oaks, Calif., was found by Rolling Meadows police Monday abandoned on northbound New Wilke Road just north of Golf Road. The woman was reported missing from California last Thursday. FBI agents and Schaumburg police evidence technicians examined the car Tuesday and found what they described as a fragment of a woman's fingernail in the trunk of the car. Police said the vehicle was locked and had no keys in the ignition.

Gunman sought in crime spree

Police are seeking a gunman suspected of launching a one-man crime wave in the Northwest suburbs. Evidence suggests a lone man Monday attempted to rob a gift shop at Woodfield Mall, stole a Woodfield security officer's walkie-talkie and abducted an Itasca woman in the Woodfield Shopping Center parking lot. The gunman drove the woman into DuPage County, released her near Wood Dale and kept her car. Police are investigating whether the same man Tuesday morning robbed the Open Pantry food store, 1035 S. Arlington Heights Rd., Arlington Heights. Cook County Sheriff's Police describe the man as 5 feet 10, 25 to 30 years old and dressed in denim slacks and shirt and black suede mocassins. Police suspect he is still driving the woman's car, a white-over-gold 1971 Buick LeSabre convertible, Illinois license number SG 9077.

Man, 88, dies after hit by car

An 88-year-old Maine Township man was killed Tuesday night when he was struck by a car at Dempster Street and Dee Road, Park Ridge. A Lutheran General Hospital spokesman said James Bebetos, 8828 Dee Rd., was pronounced dead on arrival late Monday. North Maine Fire Protection District firefighters said they brought Bebetos to the hospital shortly before 8 p.m. Details were not available from Park Ridge police.

Bucking crowds for a chance at a crisp $2 bill

by BILL HILL

It is doubtful that the $2 bills issued nationwide Tuesday will become valuable collector's items, because 255 million were put on the market, but hordes of people still mobbed banks with every intention of hoarding them.

Kids with rolls of pennies and adults with wads of cash bought first-day issues of the $2 bill as though it were going out of style, instead of coming back in.

Banks across the country ran short of the new bills that feature the portrait of Thomas Jefferson on the front, and John Trumball's painting, "The Signing of the Declaration of Independence," on the reverse side.

The renewed circulation of the "deuces" came on the 233rd anniversary of Jefferson's birth, 10 years after it was recalled by the U.S. Treasury Dept.

IN THE NORTHWEST suburbs, banks reported continuous lines, as the collectors' craze struck. Collectors who wanted lasting validtion that they bought their $2 bills on the first day were able to have them stamped and postmarked at post offices.

"They've been mobbing us. We've had three lines going, with long lines throughout the day," said Marie Radunz, a clerk at the Rolling Meadows Post Office.

The customers had their choice of which 13-cent stamp they plaed on the corner of the bills before they were hand-stamped. Stamps with Bicentennial themes were most popular at most locations.

AT THE BANK of Rolling Meadows, the new bills did not arrive until about noon, but by 4 p.m. 1,000 had been purchased. There was a limit of two per customer.

There was no limit at the First Arlington National Bank, where 5,000 of 10,000 crisp new bills received were snatched up before 4 p.m.

At Northwest Trust and Savings in Arlington Heights all 1,600 received in the morning were gone by the end of the day.

MANY CUSTOMERS apparently journeyed immediately to the Arlington Heights Post Office, where a long iine was reported at 4:30. With only a half hour until closing, nearly 3,000 of the $2 bills had been stamped with the date.

Tuesday was the only day the post office planned to provide the special service.

In Elk Grove, more than 2,000 persons had their bills stamped. A similar total was reported sold by the Suburban National Bank of Woodfield in Schaumburg, where a spokesman said, "almost everyone who came in, that was their reason."

THE SUBURBAN BANK of H9offman Estates sold more than 1,500 and the Bank of Palatine distributed more than 600 of the 1,000 it received.

In Chicago, jazz drummer Al Carter, a man who likes to set records for "firsts," showed up at a Commercial national bank at 5 a.m., hoping to snag $2 bill number GJ 0000001. He got number G 2331001 just before 7 a.m. and claimed at least a citywide first for possession.

George Farrell, a spokesman for New York's Manufacturers Hanover Trust, said the Empire State Building branch sold $10,000 worth of $2 bills by noon. "Some branches are limiting sales to five to a customer," he said.

IN WASHINGTON, meantime, the new currency — once shunned as a "bad luck charm" and withdrawn from circulation in 1966 — caused a political ruckus the very day of its debut.

A Treasury spokesman said several congressmen, state legislators and a New Hampshire newspaper called Treasury Secretary William Simon to complain that Founding Fathers from their states — six men in all — had been cut from the "Signing of the Declaration of Independence" portrait printed on the back of the bill. Thomas Jefferson is on the front.

The spokesman said Simon would give "serious study" to eventual replacement of the cropped portrait with one that shows all the signers — a move that might give real "collectors item" status to the originals — but said any such change would be far in the future.

Judge sentences cultist Sandra Good to 15 years

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — Cultist Sandra Good, declaring she wanted to be with jailed mass murderer Charles Manson, was sentenced Tuesday to 15 years in prison for conspiracy and threatening businessmen and government officials.

"Your head is in sand," Miss Good, 31, told U. S. District Court Judge Thomas J. MacBride as she was led from the courtroom by marshals.

The session was relatively calm when compared with the sentencing of Miss Good's former roommate, would be presidential assassin Lynette Fromme, who struck a prosecutor with an apple when MacBride ordered her to spend life in prison.

MacBride also sentenced co-defendant Susan Murphy, 33, a self-descibed "sister in Manson's church," to five years in prison on a charge of conspiring to mail death threat letters.

"Both of you are dangerous to society," MacBride said as he read a statement outlining his reasons for the sentence.

Miss Good could be paroled in five years, after serving one-third of her sentence. Miss Murphy is eligible for parole in 20 months.

MacBride was persistently interrupted by Miss Good, who at one point declared: "My love and my trust are with Manson and the family — I want to be with them."

"In your civilized society, you do not believe in God anymore. You will soon lose your minds."

A jury convicted the two women March 16 on charges of conspiring to mail threatening letters as part of their fervent campaign to rid the earth of pollution.

Miss Good was also found guilty of making threats in telephone conversations with reporters for the Detroit Free Press and radio stations in Altoona, Pa., New Orleans, and Hamilton, Ont.

Assistant U. S. Attorney Bruce Babcock, who asked the judge to impose the maximum sentence, said 181 threatening letters — similar to those introduced as evidence — were mailed during the trial to business leaders.

Good warned the judge that by locking them up, he would not halt their fight against environmental pollution. "There are many people on the outside," she said.

Garbed in a long, blue dress, Miss Good, one of Manson's earliest followers, said, "I look at your civilized society and see your criminals walking free. There's Lt. (William) Calley, who killed 102 women and children. There's Nixon, who sold out your country."

A former alcoholic and convicted shoplifter, Susan Murphy, wearing a gold crucifix and a black robe similar to the nun's habit she wore once during her trial, said, "I want the maximum sentence and to go with the Manson family."

The two women, who acted as their own attorneys, all but admitted guilt during their trial.

During her closing argument, Miss Good told the jury: "I regret that I didn't kill anybody."

Manson is housed in Folsom State Prison for his part in the grisly 1969 Tate-LaBianca killings in Los Angeles. Misses Good and Murphy will be sent to federal prison.

MANSON CULTIST Sandra Good, left, and co-defendant Susan Murphy walk to federal courthouse in Sacramento, where they were sentenced for conspiring to mail death threat letters.

Lockheed OKs 'payoffs' consent decree

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Lockheed Aircraft Corp. consented Tuesday to federal charges that the aerospace giant made more than $25 million in "secret payments" to foreign government officials since 1968.

Lockheed also acknowledged for the first time that some of the payments were made directly to government officials. Previously, the company said it paid agents who claimed to have made disbursements to the officials.

No names were mentioned in the consent agreement, which is neither an admission nor denial of the charges.

Lockheed agreed to the charges brought by the Securities and Exchange Commission, which opened its case against Lockheed last June. In addition, Lockheed's former chairman Daniel J. Haughton and former President Al Carl Kotchian consented to the charges.

Under terms of the consent decree issued in the U. S. District Court here, Lockheed will conduct an investigation of its illegal activities and make a complete public report.

The report, which is expected to take about six months to complete, will be filed with the court and the SEC.

Lockheed earlier admitted making at least $24.2 million in payments that reached foreign government officials since 1970.

Lockheed suspended the improper payments last August at the demand of the Emergency Loan Guarantee Board, a federal organization formed in 1971 to guarantee up to $250 million in loans to avert Lockheed's bankruptcy. The board is backing $195 million in loans for Lockheed.

Lockheed vigorously opposed the SEC until six weeks ago when the corporation's board of directors ousted Haughton and Kotchian.

Haughton and Kotchian testified before congressional committees that they personally authorized bribes to high government officials, allegedly includng Prince Bernhard of the Netherlan's and the late President Sukarno of Indonesia. The consent judgement said Lockheed made "'payments in cash and 'bearer' drafts directly to foreign government officials."

The consent order was signed by Judge John H. Pratt.

The judgment said "from at least 1968 and continuing to at least September, 1975, defendents Lockheed, Haugghton, Kotchian and others engaged in a course of business whereby they made or caused to be made secret payments of at least $25 million (at times in cash) to foreign government officials to aid Lockheed in procuring and maintaining certain contracts with foreign government customers and in expecting certain permits necessary to perform existing contract."

The judgment also said Lockheed maintained a $750,000 slush fund from at least 1968 through Sept. 1975. The slush fund, which Lockheed voluntarily disclosed last October, sometimes was used to make cash payments to foreign government officials.

Patty, Harrises face-to-face in court today correspondent Richard Threlkeld which said Miss Hearst had "told all" to federal investigators.

The report said she turned state's evidence which included "details of her 15-month odyssey in the underground" and named a half dozen persons who took part in last year's robbery of a Carmichael, Calif., bank, including the name of the participant who fatally shot a bystander.

"Miss Hearst, who reportedly was outside the bank and did not participate in the actual robbery, named a half-dozen members of the robbery team, including, sources say, her old SLA companions William and Emily Harris," the CBS report said.

The Harris couple, Symbionese Liberation Army soldiers who were with Miss Hearst for 18 months after the bank robbery until their arrest in September, already have entered pleas of not guilty.

The main order of business at the hearing is expected to center on a motion of defense lawyer F. Lee Bailey that Miss Hearst's trial be separated from that of the Harrises.

In its motion submitted earlier to Brandler, Miss Hearst's lawyers argued that her defense would conflict with theirs and that the cases should be severed.

The kidnap, assault and robbery charges stem from an incident at Mel's Sporting Goods store in Los Angeles a month after the bank robbery where Miss Hearst sprayed the storefront with machine gun bullets to rescue the Harrises from arrest.

MISS HEARST testified at her San Francisco trial that she did so because she was in deadly fear of the Harrises. Her testimony incriminated them in other offenses and when a psychiatrist tried to talk to her about the couple she would refer to them only as "A" and "B."

Federal officials in San Francisco said Tuesday that Miss Hearst will now be asked to trade her knowledge of other activities by her SLA comrades in return for a lenient sentence.

Lebanon war enters its 2nd year

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Lebanon entered the second year of its civil war Tuesday with a Syrian armored brigade poised to halt the bloodshed by force unless politicians stop it by negotiations.

One year of the Christian Moslem war has killed nearly 17,000 persons and injured more than 35,000.

Mounting Moslem leftist opposition to the Syrian incursion and the hostility of some neighboring Arab states forced the Syrians to slow their advance into Lebanon.

Syrian units, firmly entrenched at the Masnaa border post on the main Damascus-Beirut Highway sent small reconnaissance patrols up to 15 miles down the road but made no move to dig in. Witnesses reported that Syrian patrols were active on backroads from the border to Sidon.

Socialist leader Kamal Jumblatt, head of the Moslem leftist alliance, drove from his mountain stronghold of Aley to Dahr el Beidar where a small force of his private Druze army and the rebel Lebanese Arab Army were stationed in the path of any Syrian advance down the Beirut highway.

The Lebanese troops cheered and sang as Jumblatt chatted with the men.

The issue of the Syrian troops pushed aside the question of when Parliament would meet to choose a new president — one of the original demands of the leftists. Parliament passed a constitutional amendment Saturday to allow for the immediate election of a new head of state to succeed President Sulieman Franjieh, a Christian.

Jumblatt again criticized the Syrian presence and said leftists "will not be pressured into compromising stands."

"We will not allow for the Syrians to move and prevent the election of a certain presidential candidate, contain the nationalist movement or the setting up of a secular and non-confessional system in Lebanon," Jumblatt said.

Jumblatt, who has accused the United States of conniving with Syria over the Syrian incursion into Lebanon, appealed Monday for Arab League intervention, citing the danger of "Israeli counter-intervention as the illegal Syrian presence grows."

Jumblatt said Tuesday there was a "good chance of an Arab summit meeting." on the Lebanese conflict.

Baltimore city councilman killed, 3 hurt by gunman

BALTIMORE (UPI) — A berserk gunman apparently seeking revenge against city officials Tuesday shot and killed a city councilman and wounded three other persons, then was critically wounded himself in a gunbattle with police.

Councilman Dominic M. Leone, a portly 50-year-old tavern owner, died from a gunshot wound in chest.

Councilman Carroll J. Fitzgerald, 41, and Kathleen Nolan, 39, Mayor William D. Schaefer's secretary, both were in critical condition at Mercy Hospital. In the gunbattle, a city police officer was wounded in the leg.

Police identified the gunman as Charles Hopkins, convicted earlier this month for desecrating an American flag. Hopkins was fined $220 and ordered by a judge to fly the Stars and Stripes above his restaurant for six months.

Hopkins, 35, had ripped the flag from the city courthouse March 12 and set it afire to show his displeasure with city fathers over problems with his restaurant lease.

City officials said Hopkins was removed bodily Monday when he disrupted a meeting of the Board of Estimates at City Hall.

Schaefer, tears in his eyes, visited the wounded city officials at the hospital and said Hopkins apparently had intended to kill him.

"That's what they told me," Schaefer said. "Apparently, though, he was going to shoot everyone who was in the way."

Police said Hopkins entered the mayor's office suite on the seventh floor about lunchtime and asked for Schaefer.

Schaefer said he was eating lunch in his inner office when "I heard a commotion outside, my hotline started

Male cake popper: gals more liberal

People

• Danhy Zesso used to jump horses. Now he jumps out cakes. Last year the former jockey heard of a request for a male pastry popper for a bachelorette party and decided to fill the bill. His first few pops made him kind of nervous . . . but the requests continued to come in. Each act — performed with a strategically placed ribbon, bikini shorts or au naturel — cost $50. Zezzo says: "women are much more liberal than men. You see many a lady who gladly orders a female popper for her husband's party, but most men wouldn't think of returning the favor."

• Frank Sinatra will receive an honorary Ph.D. from the University of Nevada, Las Vegas, May 23, in a ceremony featuring Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, as the commencement speaker. Sinatra is being honored because of "his charitable endeavors." . . . Rep. Paul Simon, D-Ill., will also receive an honorary doctor of laws degree to be conferred at Valparaiso University's commencement exercises May 16.

• FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley believes the day of the "tough cop" — once a sought-after image — is past. He told a Police Foundation Conference on upgrading the police that it has been difficult for officers to recognize that with new methods they can reduce the need to be "tough." "One of the basic approaches in dealing with others bears repeating — you make friends by being friendly," Kelley said.

• Actress Mae West and producer Darryl Zanuck were among eight beach property owners sued this week by the city of Santa Monica and the California Attorney General. The suit demanded they remove fences and other structures blocking public access to 890 feet of beach on Palisades Beach Road.

• Paul Ford, the veteran actor best known for his roles in Broadway's "A Thurber Carnival" and television's long-running "Sergeant Bilko" series, died late Monday at Nassau Hsopital in New York of "apparently natural causes." He was 74.

Fear 45 dead in ammo plant blast

A gunpowder explosion demolished an ammunition factory in western Finland Tuesday killing as many as 45 workers and wounding 70 others in the worst industrial accident in the nation's history. A Defense Ministry spokesman said 43 deaths had been confirmed but the toll could already be as high as 45 because doctors were still trying to match various limbs found in the wreckage. A ministry spokesman said 29 bodies had been idntified, 25 of them women.

Skyjackers kept in plane in Libya

Three Filipino Moslem hijackers landed in Libya Tuesday, pleading for asylum in return for their 12 hostages and an end to the longest hijacking odyssey in history. Libyan officials, who initially indicated they would only allow the plane to refuel, later negotiated with the hijackers into the night. But they refused to let either the gunmen or their captives off the plane.

2 IRA bombs explode in Londonderry

Two bombs believed planted by the Irish Republican Army exploded Tuesday in Londonderry, Northern Ireland, gutting a bar and an electrical store in the city center. The town center was evacuated after the bombers telephoned a charity organization and gave 15 minutes warning of the attacks. No one was injured in the blasts that wrecked the Gittin Bar and an electrical store in Butcher Street, inside the city's ancient walls.

33 prisoners escape from Tampa jail

Thirty-three prisoners, using a homemade key, broke out of the minimum security Hillsborough County Stockade in Tampa, Fla. Tuesday night. Little League games in the area were cancelled and a high school called off its night classes. The escape occurred sometime between 8 and 8:30 p.m. Within two hours of the escape, eight of the prisoners were back in custody.

Watch postage on tax returns

The Postal Service warned Tuesday that federal income tax returns, which must be postmarked by midnight Thursday, will not be delivered at all if they have insufficient postage. The Postal Service said it no longer tries to collect "postage due" from the addressee of a letter and instead will return it to the sender, and this applies to a federal income tax return. There likely will be even more delay if the envelope containing the tax return has both insufficient postage and no return address, because it will be sent to a dead letter office.

Labor spurns mayor in San Francisco

Labor leaders spurned a meeting with Mayor George Moscone Tuesday on the two-week-old strike against the city that has tied up public transit and sharply reduced Easter shopping in downtown stores. Moscone waited fo ra half hour in a hotel room where he said the union leaders had promised to meet him. The union leaders were huddled in their own suite in the same hotel but did not even send word they would be late. The mayor strode from the room and walked back to City Hall, saying the snub by the union leaders made him "suspicious that they are the side dragging their feet."

Minot residents race to beat flood waters

Minot, N. D. speeded up the race Tuesday to evacuate more than 12,000 residents and their belongings from low-lying homes and finish 15-foot dikes before record Souris River flood waters pour through the city Saturday. Officials moved up the crest forecast by another day — from Easter Sunday to Saturday — putting more pressure on residents to get ready for what the Minot Daily News called "the greatest crisis in the city's 90-year history." More than 12,000 persons must move out of the core of the city by Wednesday night.

School officials oppose unit district suggestions

by JUDY JOBBITT

Local school officials have voiced strong opposition to a move to form an Elk Grove Township Dist. 59 unit school district, citing the effect the dis trict would have on the rest of High School Dist. 214 in their reasons.

"I think the real problem will come if Dist. 59 withdraws a significant part of the revenue from Dist. 214 without a corresponding share of the enrollment," said Donald Strong, Arlington Heights Dist. 25 superintendent.

Dist. 59 currently provides about 40 per cent of Dist. 214's tax base but only about 27 per cent of the students.

"There's a broader stake in a multi-community area like ours with a long term base of cooperation with the high school district," he said. "The issue here has a potentially severe impact on the entire area."

STRONG SAID he does not question the right of Dist. 59 to form a unit district but "whether it is wise and reasonable to pursue this because of the economic hardship it could create for the remainder of Dist. 214."

The proposed unit district would take in Forest View and Elk Grove High Schools in addition to the current Dist. 59 schools. A unit district would have one school board and administration for elementary and high schools.

A Dist. 59 citizens committee recommended the proposal be taken to the voters in the elementary school district.

Currently Wheeling-Buffalo Grove Dist. 21, Prospect Heights Dist. 23 and Mount Prospect Dist. 57 school boards have joined the high school district in opposing the formation of the proposed unit district. Dist. 57's board said it would be willing to reconsider its stand depending upon future information.

THE PALATINE-Rolling Meadows Dist. 15 school board will consider a resolution opposing the unit district formation tonight. River Trails Dist. 26 has not taken a stand on the issue.

Referring to financial problems in Dist. 59, Jeremiah Crise, Dist. 21 board member said, "The thing of it is Dist. 59 can't operate their elementary district. I don't understand why they want to take on two high schools. Until you get your own house in order, you don't take on additional responsibilities."

He voiced concern with the move saying it "could splinter Dist. 214. It could put the whole high school district in shambles."

Edith Jolly, Dist. 25 board member, said "as a board member I have no comment, but as a private citizen, I'm a bit distressed because it will affect Dist. 25 indirectly and Dist. 214 directly.

"IF YOU CAN show me it would improve education without hurting the rest of Dist. 214 financially or educationally, I might support it but it hasn't been shown," she said. Mrs. Jolly said she also is upset about the possible fragmentation of Dist. 214.

Robert Novy, Dist. 57 board member, said he "feels although it might be of some help to Dist. 59 from a tax dollars standpoint, I think it really is going to hurt the other kids in Dist. 214.

"When you take out such a portion of the tax base from Dist. 214 and not the same number of kids, it will hurt," he said. "It seems unfair to all the taxpayers who have supported Dist. 214 all this time."

Dist. 21 Supt. Kenneth Gill said he does not oppose the formation of unit districts, but rather the approach taken by Dist. 59's independent movement.

"WE SHOULD HAVE looked at this unit district thing for the whole Dist. 214 area," he said. "It's something that should be done."

Gill said this proposal should be rejected by the state school superintendent who must approve it before the issue goes to the Dist. 59 voters with the understanding that Dist. 214 would "look at the whole picture for the whole area."

Dist. 214 officials said they are upset with the proposal because the committee recommending it did not get "all the facts."

"Dist 214 has prepared a considerable amount of information that I'm not certain was digested by the committee," said John Costello, Dist. 214 board member. "Financially it may help the residents of Dist. 59, but we also feel it will take away considerably from the education program not only for students in Dist. 59 but also for the rest of the students in Dist. 214."

Roderick McLennan, Dist. 214 associate superintendent for instructional services, said "the committee's decision was based on information alleged to be from Dist. 214 but none of the evidence was reviewed by Dist. 214 in advance." He said Dist. 214 officials at the committee meetings also were not allowed to clarify data related to the high school district "even when committee members asked."

Police seek gunman for robbery

by DAVE IBATA

Police are seeking a gunman suspected of launching a one-man crime wave in the Northwest suburbs.

A slight man in his late 20s is suspected of an attempted and successful armed robbery, an abduction and an auto theft Monday at Woodfield Mall, Schaumburg.

Police are investigating whether the same man Tuesday morning took $90 cash from the Open Pantry food store, 1035 S. Arlington Heights Rd., Arlington Heights. Victims provided similar descriptions of the robber.

POLICE DESCRIBE the suspect as a 5-foot 10-inch, revolver-toting man dressed in denim slacks and shirt and sporting black suede mocassins.

The gunman first struck at 11:30 a.m. Monday at Globe Hoppers, a gift shop at Woodfield Mall. He pulled a gun on store employe Gloria Conjura, Hoffman Estates, police said. The gunman fled after Conjura began screaming, police reported.

At 5:20 p.m. Monday a Woodfield security officer, Harvey A. Hendrickson, 36, Bloomingdale, discovered a man trying to get on the shopping center's roof.

The man turned a gun on Hendrickson and stole the guard's walkie-talkie, police said. The gunman escaped.

At 5:30 p.m. Monday, an Itasca woman, Cdale Fridlund, 49, was met by a gunman in the Woodfield parking lot, police said. The man forced her into her car and drove the car into DuPage County.

THE GUNMAN released Fridlund near Wood Dale after taking $5 cash from her, police said. He kept her car, a White-over gold 1971 Buick LaSabre convertible with Illinois license plates, JG9077, police said.

Police believe the gunman may still be driving Fridlund's car.

A gunman at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday robbed the Open Pantry food store. The robber took $90 cash from store clerk Connie Dwyer, Hoffman Estates, police said.

"This subject is believed to be the same offender involved in two robberies and an abduction in Schaumburg," police said.

"IT'S VERY possible they're all the same person," said Schaumburg Police Lt. Robert Hammond. "The descriptions in the three incidents are fairly close."

Arllington Heights police Sgt. Richard Robinson said Tuesday night Arlington and Schaumburg police were "comparing notes" on the four incidents, "trying to put bits and pieces together regarding similarities."

Robinson used one word to describe the gunman: "dangerous."

Seniors housing put on ice due to condemnations

Construction of a 119-unit senior citizens' housing development planned for Highland Avenue in Arlington Heights has been delayed indefinitely because of condemnation proceedings, the executive director of the Cook County Housing Authority said Tuesday.

Two of the four properties forming the L-shaped site between Wing and Miner streets have been acquired and condemnation suits have been filed for the remaining two lots, Victor Walchirk said.

"We can't tell at this point how long the acquisition will take," he said.

Groundbreaking for the $3.5 million project had been expected to occur this spring.

"We have the indication that one of the two we already own will probably be vacated shortly. If so, we will soon be demolishing that house," Walchirk said.

FINAL ARCHITECTURAL plans for the development are near completion. "When those are finished, we will then have a conference on the final plans with HUD (U.S. Dept. of Housing and Urban Development)," Walchirk said.

The plans will then be reviewed by the Arlington Heights plan commission and village board.

The village has on file the names of more than 500 senior citizens who have expressed an interest in living in the housing, but criteria and application procedures have not been determined.

Theater fight focuses on street troupe theater had featured such "first-class stars" as Lana Turner, John and Patty Duke Astin and Richard Dreyfuss, drawing weekly salaries from $750 to $7,500.

Ruken, through witnesses that included an assistant hotel manager and the head of hotel security, compared those productions with the Free Street Theater's performance.

Maurice Schaffner, head of hotel security, provoked some laughter in the courtroom when he said he was "bored" with an enactment of a fairy tale by the troupe, in which members took the roles of windows and doors as well as the characters.

SCHAFFNER AND the assistant manager both said the audiences were small and admission was by voluntary donation.

Lonn said the troupe is of recognized "professional" stature and covered by Actors Equity Bonding Requirements.

"They sign the same contracts as would George C. Scott or anyone else," Lonn said, and despite early showings, forecast "lines at the box office" of customers waiting to see the show.

Today, Patrick Henry, director of the Free Street Theater, is expected to defend the artistic qualifications of his company in the hearing scheduled to resume at 11 a.m. in the Chicago Civic Center.

Burglars steal $106 from furniture store

Burglars stole $106 cash early Tuesday morning in a break-in at the Carriage House Furniture Store, 1211 E. Rand Rd., Arlington Heights, police reported.

Alice S. Oinsco, a store employe, discovered a window pane shattered and an office ransacked at 9 a.m. Tuesday morning, police said. Police said thieves took a crowbar to office desks, and broke a padlock to leave the building through a rear exit.

Caucus aid doesn't guarantee win

A news analysis

For the first time in 21 years, a member of the Arlington Heights Dist. 25 Nominating Committee slate has been defeated in a bid for a seat on the school board.

For the past 21 years, only committee-endorsed candidates have been elected to the Dist. 25 board, but this year independent James Foster defeated the committee's choice, Sharon Wanner. Foster ran third in the race for three seats on the board, polling 677 votes Saturday. Mrs. Wanner received 533 votes and independent Douglas Chidley polled 397.

According to the committee's bylaws, delegates may endorse only as many candidates as there are openings on the board in any given year. This year, delegates appeared firm in their endorsement of incumbents Edith Jolly and Donald Gibbins, who were the two top vote-getters in the school board race, but the delegates seemed to have mixed feelings about their choice for the third seat. Mrs. Wanner was endorsed by delegates on the third round of balloting.

"IT DID NOT SEEM to me that any of the three candidates (Mrs. Wanner, Foster and Chidley) were exceptionally impressive in their presentations" to the committee, said Ann Westby, who has been elected to chair the committee next year. "There was not a strong endorsement in the first place," she said.

But Mrs. Westby does not believe that the defeat of a committee-endorsed candidate necessarily means the committee has lost its effectiveness. "I thought it was a kind of a healthy thing," she said. "It's good, because it shows we don't run the show." The election of school board members "is not supposed to be our decision," she said.

Foster sought the endorsement of the committee in 1974, but when he was not endorsed he withdrew his candidacy. When he lost the endorsement this year, he ran as an independent.

FOSTER HAS BEEN active in PTA activities at Olive School and Thomas Junior High School, where his children attend classes. "Probably he did pull on the support of people he has inown in the PTA organization," said Mrs. Westby.

Marty Kraybill, president of the Arlington Heights Council of PTAs, said that although the PTA is not allowed by its bylaws to endorse candidates, she supported Foster personally, as did many other individuals in the district.

There were "enough individuals in town that really backed him strongly," she said. Flyers were passed out outside three polling places Saturday and friends also made telephone calls campaigning for Foster, she said.

Foster himself attributed his victory Saturday to the "support of a lot of people who believed in me and believed in the district. They worked hard for me," he said.

THE COMMITTEE WILL continue to search for candidates for the Dist. 25 board in future years, said Mrs. Westby. "The role of the committee is to seek out people," she said. "People just don't generally step forth and offer their service."

The committee's screening committee interviews all candidates seeking endorsement and places a list of candidates it feels are qualified before the delegates for final endorsement.

The community as a whole is too large to perform this service, she said. "It's like asking a small group to do it for them," she said, and the delegates who serve on the committee are "a good cross section of the community."

About 40 organizations participate in the committee by appointing two delegates each. Currently about 60 delegates participate actively in the endorsement procecure.

Poch resigns Dist. 23 board job

Board member Carl Poch resigned from the Prospect Heights Dist. 23 Board of Education Tuesday night.

Poch, 37, of 206 North Pkwy., Prospect Heights, sent a letter to the board stating business requirements made him unable to spend the time needed to serve as a board member.

Poch has served four years on the board. His term expires in April 1978.

Board Pres. Melvin Lace said the board will accept applications from residents interested in filling the open seat. The person selected will be appointed for a term which expires in April 1977.

Interested residents should contact Supt. Edward Grodsky at the district office, 700 N. Schoenbeck Rd., Prospect Heights. Grodsky said he will explain the duties of a school board member to each prospective candidate and the board will interview the candidates in May.

Candidates must be at least 18 years old, a resident of the district for at lest one year, a citizen of the U.S. and a registered voter in the district.

In other action, the board reelected Melvin Lace as board president and seated board members Sallyann Okuno, Prospect Heights and Alan Krinsky, Arlington Heights, who won reelection to the board in an uncontested election Saturday.

Tree dedication Saturday

A tree will be dedicated at the Kingsbridge Arboretum, Fernandez and Victoria Lane, Arlington Heights, at noon Saturday in memory of David Storey. The tree was donated by the Surrey Ridge West Civic Assn.

Young criticizes tax reforms; sees no loopholes

Republican congressional candidate Samuel H. Young took issue with a number of tax reform measures before Congress and declared he does not know of any loopholes in the present tax laws.

Young said taxes and inflation will be a big issue in his campaign with U.S. Rep. Abner J. Mikva, D-10th. He indicated federal tax laws should favor efforts to increase capital as a means of improving the economy and ultimately providing additional jobs..

He called the present tax system the "best in the world," adding there is still room for improvement.

Young said he disagrees with Mikva-backed proposals to modify the foreign tax credit regulations and place limits on business accounting losses. He said he accelerated depreciation plans for businesses, something Mikva opposes.

The Glenview attorney said there is always a need for changes in the tax laws, but questioned major tax reform efforts now in Congress.

Political briefs

Percy asks FDA action

U.S. Sen. Charles Percy has called for the U.S. Food and Drug Administration to make the health and safety of hearing-impaired persons its top priority.

Percy is critical of proposed FDA regulations which do not require hearing aid dealers to tell customers they should see a physician or testing before purchasing a hearing aid.

He has asked the FDA to provide him by Thursday with a timetable stating when they will implement the new regulations.

Percy, who wears a hearing aid, noted there are 20 million persons in the country who have impaired hearing.

Budget cut may hurt aged

The head of the Illinois Dept. on Aging charged that proposed budget cuts for the department by the Illinois General Assembly could cripple the state's programs for the elderly.

The legislature has tentatively called for a 30 per cent cut in the department's administrative budget. While the bulk of the department's budget is federal funds, administrative costs are paid by the state, according to director Kenneth W. Holland. He added the proposed $24,000 budget cut will result in a loss of $30,000 in federal funds to the state cutting the state's actual savings to $12,000.

Assist locals: Thompson

James. R. Thompson, the Republican candidate for governor, said he wants to reorganize the Illinois Dept. of Local Government Affairs to make it more responsive to municipal officials.

"I am told the department confuses rather than enlightens. I am told, too, that its good advice is often negated by misinformation or contradictory advice," he said.

Thompson said he wanted the department to assist local officials, not use money to enhance the image of the governor, or the director of the department.

He cited the use of a toll-free hotline for municipal officials as a possible means of providing information rapidly.

U.S. energy woes not over

U.S. Sen. Adlai Stevenson, D-Ill., told a national energy conference that even though the Arab oil embargo happened almost three years ago, the nation's "energy lifeline is in even greater peril today."

Stevenson said the government still has no agreements with producing nations to secure supplies, no oil stockpiles have been created and the domestic production of oil is declining despite price increases.

The senator proposed the government start a massive, new domestic energy development program, take steps to protect the economy from arbitrary energy price increases and recognize the U.S. interest in diversifying foreign oil supplies while buidling new bridges to developing nations.

Stevenson said experts report 50 per cent of the oil waiting to be discovered in the world lies in developing third world nations that are not aligned with either Communist or oil producing nations.

Howlett: Educate adults

Sec. of State Michael Howlett has suggested the state reexamine the law setting 21 as the maximum age a person can receive free public education.

"I do not say we should have unlimited adult education for free. I say only that adults are entitled to the amount of education guaranteed by the constitution," Howlett said. The Democratic gubernatorial candidate said school enrollment has dropped to three million, but added there are more than three million persons in Illinois who do not have a full high school education.

Senate OKs salaries bill

The Illinois Senate has approved a bill, 45-0, requiring mandatory monthly payments to members of the Illinois General Assembly.

A new law which will go into effect in January would allow lawmakers to collect their $20,000 salaries at once or monthly. The present state law allows lawmakers to collect their salaries either one or two years in advance.

Increased interest in the pay issue has been focused on the legislature by the Coalition for Political Honesty.

The group is attempting to put three constitutional amendments on the ballot in November. The amendments would require monthly pay, ban double dipping and strengthen state conflict of interest laws. While bills covering the latter two areas have been introduced, there has been little action on the measures.

Metropolitan briefs

HEW disallows mental aid funds

The Health, Education and Welfare Dept. has notified the state of Illinois it has disallowed payments of $188.4 million in government funds the state previously claimed and received in federal aid, it was announced Tuesday.

Notification was sent Public Aid Director James L. Trainor in a "letter of disallowment" mailed April 9.

The letter, from Clyde V. Downing, HEW's regional commissioner for social and rehabilitation service, said payments involving mental health services made from March 1972 through April 1974 had been disallowed for a number of reasons.

Trainor said he would ask for an administrative review of the HEW decision within 30 days. He said he believes an audit would prove the state was entitled to the money.

The review "will take a minimum of six months and maybe longer before a final decision is made," Trainor said.

Three charged in theft

Three reputed members of an armed robbery ring were charged Tuesday with transporting stolen jewelry taken in a Texas robbery last November to the Chicago area.

Robert Wilson, 43; Stephen Berry, 40, and Donald Richardson, 32, were charged with taking stolen jewelry from Houston, Tex., to Schiller Park and Bensenville, Ill.

The jewelry included more than 100 diamonds, 60 pearls and 21 emeralds. According to complaints filed, the jewelry was stolen last Nov. 27 from antique jewelers in Houston.

The three men were suspects in four other bank robberies in which more than $120,000 was taken. The reputed ring is also suspected of shooting a policeman during an armed robbery last June 3 in Oklahoma City.

Bond was set at $500,000 for Wilson and Richardson and $225,000 for Berry.

Sayers wants to serve

A Chicago Park District official denied a published report that former Chicago Bears running great Gale Sayers asked Mayor Richard J. Daley Tuesday not to reappoint him to the park district board.

Marshall Weil, assistant director of public information for the park district, said Sayers told the board that "he would like to remain commissioner."

However, Weil said Sayers had asked Daley in 1974, when his term with the park board expired, to "hold off on reappointment to a full term — a five-year deal. Reports had it that he was considering other (career) offers."

Sayers is a member of the University of Kansas athletic staff.

The mayor held the board position open, Weil said, allowing Sayers to continue in the nonpaying post.

In a statement, Sayers said, "I asked that I not be immediately reappointed when my term expired (1974) because of some uncertainty over my own professional career. As soon as that uncertainty is cleared up, I will ask Mayor Daley to reappoint me.

"It has been a pleasure serving on this board, and I hope, if it is the will of Mayor Daley, to continue to serve on this board."

Architecture show opens at Harper

An exhibition of early Chicago architecture will be at Harper College through April 30 in campus Buildings C and P, Algonquin and Roselle roads, Palatine. The exhibit is open to the public free of charge.

The exhibit includes photographs, plans and drawings that attained importance in the Chicago School of Architecture between 1880 and 1910.

Sponsored jointly by the Historic American Buildings Survey and the Smithsonian Institution, this exhibit is currently on nationwide tour.

'Heat' disease detector new unit at NW Hospital

Diseases that generate body heat can be detected at Northwest Community Hospital, Arlington Heights, with a new $50,000 piece of equipment called a thermography unit, which will be put in operation this week.

Northwest is the first hospital in the Chicago area to use a thermography unit.

The new equipment gives the hospital a radiation-free detection capability, explained Dr. Constantine Soter, chief radiologist at Northwest.

THE MOST FREQUENT uses of thermography are:

- Diagnosis of breast cancer in high risk individuals, in correlation with xeroradiography.
- Diagnosis of acute abdominal conditions, including appendicitis.
- Early detection of deep thrombosis of the leg.

Other uses include the location and degree of carotid obstruction in cerebrovascular disease; the follow-up of post surgical stroke victims without invasive dye injections; and the diagnosis of vascular headaches, back pain and peripheral vascular disorders.

Thermography is a five-minute scanning procedure that produces heat photographs of the tissue studied. The unit supplies black and white or full color heat photographs. "Hot spots" in the body can indicate the presence of cancer or other physiological abnormalities.

"The thermography units shows dramatically the harmful effects of smoking. A study of the hand immediately after a cigaret has been smoked shows how smoking shrinks the arteries in the smoker's hand. It does the same to the smoker's brain and heart," Soter said.

THE ONLY OTHER thermography unit in the area is located at the Portes Cancer Prevention Center in Chicago.

The Arlington Heights Jaycees have pledged funds for the $50,000 unit and have raised more than a third of their pledge through house-to-house canvassing, corporate donations, car washes and other events.

Donations, which are tax deductible, may be sent to the Northwest Community Hospital Thermography Fund, Arlington Heights Jaycees, P.O. Box 1, Arlington Heights, Illinois 60006.

3-year contract approved for NSSEO chief

Edward H. McDonald, director of the Northwest Suburban Special Education Organization, has been granted a three-year contract by the NSSEO governing board.

Following a 3½-hour executive session last week about personnel the board voted 5-1 to approve a three-year contract for McDonald. Voting yes were Walter Kendall, Palatine-Rolling Meadows Dist. 15; Deanna Wells, Prospect Heights Dist. 23; Margaret Pageler, Schaumburg Township Dist. 54; William Donovan, Mount Prospect Dist. 57; and Richard Soby, Arlington Heights Dist. 25.

Jean Fisler, High School Dist. 211, voted no on the contract. Edward Pugliese from River Trails Dist. 26 and Arthur Aronson frm High School Dist. 214 abstained. Representatives from Wheeling-Buffalo Gove Dist. 21 and Elk Grove Township Dist. 59 were not present.

McDonald became director of NSSEO last July. His contract will run from July 1976 to July 1979.

In other ction, Mrs. Pageler was approved as the board's representative to the negotiating committee in teacher contract talks. Attorney Wesley Wildman was hired as the board's chief negotiator at a salary of $4,800 for the first 80 hours and $60 per hour after that. This is the first year the board will negotiate a teacher contract with the newly formed NSSEO union.

Short TV Waves

by Ed Landwehr

Did you ever wonder why the range of a TV station is so much less than a radio station? We heard of a fellow who thought the TV industry was purposely using short waves so they could sell antennas.

Television uses electro magnetic waves that travel only in straight lines, and the curvature of the earth causes them to go into space. Radio waves bounce up and down off the upper atmosphere and travel around the earth.

Another electronic straight line is the telephone number 255-0700 direct to Landwehr's TV & Appliances. TV, radio and general electronic services are available promptly and accurately. We'll guarantee it. Try us.

And you'll like the complete displays we have on the floor at 1000 W. Northwest Hwy., Arlington Heights. Service with sales makes us popular.

Ask Andy

Olympics date back to 776 B.C.

Andy sends the Encyclopaedia Britannica's Yearbook of Science and the Future to Renae Mullis, 12, of Gastonia, N.C., for her question:
WHEN WERE THE FIRST OLYMPIC GAMES PLAYED?

Every four years thousands of the world's finest amateur athletes come together to compete in a thrill-packed sporting event called the Olympic Games. They are watched by millions of spectators both in person and on worldwide television. The competition is keen as the athletes vie for gold, silver and bronze medals in 21 sports.

There is some difference of opinion about when the first Olympic Games were played. The religious festivals of the ancient Greeks included athletic competition. With this is mind, some experts place the origin of the Olympics between 1400 B.C. and 1200 B.C. Historical records show, however, that the year 776 B. C. stands as the most widely accepted date of their origin.

The Olympics of 776 B.C. listed just one event, a footrace of about 200 yards. The winner was Coreobos of Elis. This contest took place in the Stadium of Olympia, which was in the valley of Olympia in western Greece. Then, as now, the Olympics were held every four years. this four-year span is called an Olympiad.

The next 12 Olympiads consisted also of a single race, but eventually more events were added. By 626 B.C. the games included track-and-field events, wrestling, gymnastics, weight lifting and other sports. One combined boxing, wrestling and rough and tumble.

At first the games lasted only one day, and they were restricted to Greeks. As the games grew in popularity and featured more events, the duration increased to seven days. Women were not allowed to participate — either as competitors or as spectators. As the years passed, corrupt officials, rioting and even near-wars over incidents that happened at the games caused them to decline in popularity and quality. Finally, in A. D. 394, Emperor Theodosius of Rome abolished the games.

The modern Olympic Games grew from the inspiration of a Frenchman, Baron Pierre de Coubertin. He believed that athletics were an important part of forming a person's character, and that nothing but good could come from bringing athletes together in the spirit of friendly competition.

In 1894, De Coubertin presented his ideas to an international meeting on amateur sports. The meeting was held in the Sorbonne, Paris, and was attended by representatives of nine different nations. The conference voted to organize the games, and the International Olympic Committee was formed. In 1896 the games of the first modern Olympiad were played in a new stadium in Athens, Greece.

Since 1896 the Olympic Games have been held every four years except during 1916, 1940 and 1944, when the world struggled in great wars. In 1924 the Winter Games made their debut to provide for competition in winter sports. This summer the Olympic Games will be held in Montreal, Canada.

Andy sends a Student Globe to William Berry, 7, of Indianapolis, Ind., for his question:
HOW IS NYLON MADE?

Cotton, silk and wool are fibers Mother Nature provides for our use. Nylon, however, is man-made, or synthetic. It is a chemical compound made by machines in a factory. The nylon molecule is formed by combining molecules which do not exist in nature. They come from coal, water, air, petroleum, agricultural byproducts and natural gas. Because of its toughness, strength and durability, nylon is considered one of the most important modern chemical discoveries.

Nylon is not always made into fibers. Different processes form nylon into bristles, sheets, rods, tubes and coatings. The most widely used synthetic fiber, it goes into such things as brushes, drapes, carpeting, sails, parachutes, tires, clothes, gears for engines, and the list could go on and on. Besides being strong, nylon stretches, resists mildew and fungus and withstands a wider temperature range than any other fiber.

Ruff and sluff not enuff

Win at bridge

by Oswald and Jim Jacoby

South's jump to four hearts was a slight overbid. When he looked at dummy, he wished he had bid one less.

The defense started with three rounds of spades. South ruffed the third spade, cashed his ace of diamonds, drew trumps and led the second diamond from dummy.

West, won the trick and realized that he was almost surely faced with a ruff and a sluff situation.

Of course, he could avoid that by leading a club. West counted out the hand and noted that if South had started with only two diamonds he would be holding four clubs. Then if East held the club queen a club lead would give South his contract, while a ruff and sluff wouldn't help him at all.

West led a third diamond. South got one club discard, but it wasn't enough and he still had to lose a club trick.

When you finish that important business, I've got some minor details for you to tackle.

The way we see it

Frivolous bill costly to state

Illinois lawmakers journeyed to Springfield for another legislative session last week, facing a financial crisis and the possibility of an income tax increase to pay the state's bills, but that didn't stop them. They began the session they same way they always do — frivolously.

Three downstate legislators introduced a resolution commanding Lawrenceville High School basketball players to attend college in Illinois. The resolution was aimed at Jay Schidler, the high school All American who plays for the downstate high school and who is being recruited by colleges throughout the country.

Rep. Roscoe Cunningham, Lawrenceville, cosponsored the resolution, one of the hundreds of nonsensical measures which are processed every year.

It's the way things are run during the opening weeks of every legislative session. The result is that such frivolity helps bury progressive bills in a log-jam during the final days when as many as 4,000 bills are waiting to be considered. Meanwhile, thousands of taxpayers' dollars go toward recording resolutions like Cunningham's.

Forget that legislators might be considering what an almost $10 billion budget means to the taxpayer and whether the state will have enough money to fund it on the one hand or whether it will be enough to pay the bills on the other.

It's like Roscoe Cunningham said when he introduced the resolution: "Mindful of the considerable Illinois taxpayer investment to date in each of these talented students and desiring to protect them from evil influences which might seek to lure them to schools beyond the borders . . . command every senior member of the Lawrenceville Indians who plans to pursue his education in an institution of higher learning to enroll in an Illinois school."

Yes, Rep. Cunningham — mindful of the considerable Illinois taxpayer investment to date in each of these talented legislators . . .

Kissinger speculation does not help matters

Did he or didn't he?

Will he or won't he ?

Should he or shouldn't he?

Henry Kissinger. The man in the middle of all our diplomatic affairs, is the focus of these questions during this election year.

Many of Kissinger's critics, including the President's campaign chairman, continue to hint at the secretary of state's departure from the cabinet. These hints continue to be tossed around in a political football game that can become injurious to the state of affairs in which Kissinger is involved.

Calling for Kissinger's resignation is certainly fair, but continuing rumors about his status in the government from day to day is a risky matter. We could not fault foreign governments for failing to deal with Kissinger out of fear that he truly does not represent this government.

We are pleased by President Ford's forthright declarations of support for Kissinger, and we urge lawmakers to stop rumormongering about the secretary's status.

The sooner the speculation stops, the sooner Kissinger can get back to his office instead of meeting the press with daily denials about his departure from office.

Bardwell explains borrowing stand

The question of deficit financing of local public education programs has been reviewed and criticized recently in editorials and news reports in The Herald publication. As superintendent of schools in Dist. 59, my position has been that borrowing money on next year's taxes, when a school district tax base is growing, is a legitimate, responsible financial practice. Before any discussion of school finances can be undertaken, it is important to keep in mind that money from taxes comes to the school district about one year after the school year the taxes are supposed to finance.

What has been called deficit financing for schools is simply a form of borrowing on income which will be forthcoming in the near future. It is similar to the action of a family who might assume a mortgage in order to maintain a certain standard of living. The future income of the school district is next year's taxes. Borrowing on next year's taxes is technically called issuing tax anticipation warrants. Because this income is assured and because our tax base is still growing, we as a district can count on this income to pay back our cost of operation.

IT IS NOT ONLY sound management for our district to borrow on next year's taxes, it costs the taxpayer less money in the long run. If the district did not issue tax exempt warrants at low interest rates, it would have to raise taxes so the school district could carry a large cash surplus. Residents, then, have less cash to spend and may end up borrowing more themselves. When individuals borrow money through revolving charge accounts their interest costs are as high as 18 per cent. Other forms of borrowing money may cost individuals between 8 per cent and 10 per cent.

For example, let's assume you have $100 in a savings account earning you 6 per cent a year, or so $6. The school taxes you an extra $100 so the district can have a cash surplus to carry its expenses while it waits for taxes. It would be possible for the district to go to the bank and borrow this money at 5 per cent, actually saving you, the taxpayers, $1. School Dist. 59's largest taxpayer is United Airlines. This corporation pays 2.5 per cent of the taxes for elementary education. If Dist. 59 were to maintain a cash balance of $20 million, similar to the balance held by High School Dist. 214, Dist. 59 would have to tax United Airlines $500,000. We would have to use a half a million dollars of their money for our convenience when we can borrow that money from a bank at a lower interest rate than can United.

It is simpler and more accurate to call deficit financing a form of borrowing which goes beyond what can be paid back with next year's income. In other words, a real deficit can be caused when spending is greater than the amount that can be repaid out of future income. In a family situation, this might occur when the family must withdraw money from a savings account in order to cover current expenses. There is quite a difference between this deficit, which cannot be offset by future income, and a loan which can be paid back out of future income.

IT IS MY BELIEF that most school districts in our area are facing real budget deficits because of a loss of state aid and the effects of inflation. In order to present an image of a balanced budget to the public, many districts are using a form of financing which allows them to borrow from themselves. My suggestion is that this practice is frought with more financial turmoil and compounding deficits than is the practice of borrowing from a bank on next year's taxes because this form of borrowing is repaid by the future taxes.

School districts should be, and are, cutting expenses. In Dist. 59, we have been cutting teaching and administrative staff in direct proportion to enrollment decline. The goal of the board of education in Dist. 59 is to maintain our existing program. In order to meet this goal, Dist. 59 increased local taxes by passing a referendum. The board has continued the long-established practice of borrowing on next year's taxes. This practice, along with wise expenditure cuts, allows Dist. 59 to enjoy, by far, the lowest tax rate in our area.

I have tried in this letter to explain some advantages of our district's practice of borrowing on future taxes. In doing so, I have omitted many details and facts. If you wish a technical explanation of the above information, please call my office and I will have one mailed to you.

Laments 'uncalled-for slur'

On behalf of my profession, I wish to strongly protest against the gratuitous insult directed towards veterinarians in an article on the front page of today's Wheeling Herald.

In her article on a commercial facility catering to animals, the writer, Diane Mermigas, chose to denigrate my profession in the sixth paragraph, for absolutely no valid or logical reason.

While discussing a non-veterinary business, she, for reasons known only to herself, chose to insert the line "not the average . . . veterinarian's office where housepets are frequently left when their owners go away." This uncalled for slur had no place in an article discussing a completely different type of establishment.

The reporter's material obviously was not subjected to close examination by any of her superiors, who would surely have blue-penciled this gross "goof" before passing the material to the printers.

It was unfortunate, besides, that your paper did not use a first-class dog writer, such as your own Dave Terrill, to handle this type of article. I have had the pleasure of knowing and dealing with Mr. Terrill for the past 25 years.

I have been in the suburban area, and I know that he would never have allowed such "sloppy" journalism to intrude into the printed page. Dave, both in his regular "Just Dogs" columns, and elsewhere, consistently has recognized the importance of the veterinary profession in the care and handling of pet animals.

To allow a comparative neophyte writer to demean a fine group of professionals in the Northwest suburban area, in an article slanted at a strictly unrelated business, was unfair, unnecessary, invalid and inexcusable. I would trust that the responsible editors would offer an immediate apology to this group maligned by an obtuse, non-thinking writer confused by the superficial glamor of a new plaything for a billion-dollar corporation.

Disputes letter on Dist. 62

This letter is a rebuttal to the letter of Mr. Stuart D. Kisten, published on April 9.

Mr. Kisten makes several statements which I, as a member of Concerned Citizens for Quality Education cannot let go unanswered.

"Mr. Birchfield does not represent special interest groups or partisan politics." Neither does Mr. Karabas nor Mr. Gulley. They refused endorsement by D.P.E.A. (the teachers) so that they would not be beholden to them. Our group consists of Democrats and Republicans, Liberals and Conservatives, and has no allegiance to any other group or organization. We do have a special interest — the children of Dist. 62.

Mr. Kisten called the C.C.Q.E. "clandestine" (meaning secret or under-cover). This is not true—it was the failure of the board to hear us when we wished to speak that caused our organization to be formed. We wanted to be heard and the board wouldn't listen.

Mr. Kisten assumes our group came into existence "because Mr. Birchfield has refused to surrender his responsibility to special interest or political groups." NO! We came into existence because Mr. Birchfield refused to:

Analyze cuts to see if they were judicious;

Listen to 500 citizens at the meeting of March 15, 1976;

Censure an administration that wrote letters to dismiss teachers and signed them before the Board voted;

Reject cuts in learning disabilities when the number of children in the program has increased substantially in the last four years;

Work for a budget that doesn't accumulate excess taxes.

Mr. Kisten refers to the caucus but does not tell us that no questions were asked of potential candidates, indeed they were not interviewed. Does this kind of evaluation speak for the community?

Mr. Kisten would have us believe Mr. Birchfield was the only qualified candidate. This is not true. The following are the qualifications for Mr. Karabas and Mr. Gulley:

Mr. Karabas has many years of experience in working with people both in his present position and his previous position which he held for a number of years. He has been aware of the opportunity to serve on the school board for a few years but just now finds himself in a position where he has enough time to devote to it.

Mr. Gulley has a background in financial planning which will enable him to evaluate plans and projections that directly affect our kids. His ability to analyze budgets and future planning would be a very great asset to him as a board member.

Both of these men have been involved in children-centered activities for many years which indicates their love and concern for and about kids.

At this writing, I don't know who won in Dist. 62 but I hope our children don't lose.

Foot crossing safety queried

I wish to submit a formal objection to the City of Des Plaines negotiating with the Chicago and North Western Railroad to reopen the pedestrian crosswalk in front of the depot.

My objections are based on these facts: 1) about 17 or 18 years ago this pedestrian crossing was closed by an order of Judge Helen Munsert presiding in Illinois Commerce Commission court; 2) at that time, this crossing was equipped with a bell and flasher, but these were ruled inadequate to prevent people from being unwary; 3) four deaths had occurred there within a matter of a few weeks' time; 4) neither the railroad nor the city would assume the expense of safety devices and measures (many alternatives were offered).

Now I just can't believe our city would open that crossing at the same time we are building a 400-car parking deck on the south side of the tracks to further obscure an approaching train for anyone entering it from the Ellinwood side.

I CAN'T BELIEVE our city will agree to stand the expense (reportedly $15,000) to repair the North Western's crosswalk plus furnish signals (ruled inadequate) and put it back to 20 years ago.

I can't believe Des Plaines will accept the railroad's liability for any deaths that may occur there by taking out liability insurance enough to cover them if the crossing is opened.

Come on, city council, take another look and ask yourselves if it would be better for some to walk a little further, or would your consciences bother you with the first death that would occur there?! Can you buy that much liability? I don't think you can.

School 'unneeded' facility?

As a parent with two children attending Park View School (K and 5th grades) I must say that my hat goes off and my heart goes out to each member of the Dist. 26 school board who must make the difficult decisions relative to the pending financial crisis. I doubt that any board member seeks the responsibilities for reasons of personal gain or winning friends, for any decision in this crisis is bound to lose some friends. I therefore trust that their prime motivation is to seek the best good for the most number of children.

However, one thing puzzles me about the data upon which their decision was made. In a survey form we were asked to list in order of preference three proposed solutions to the crisis — cut back on services, increase taxes, or "close facilities not needed." Wouldn't a person obviously want to close facilities not needed? That sounded like fat trimming to me and a good place to start. It just never occurred to me that "closing facilities not needed" could be interpreted to mean closing a whole school of 376 pupils! If closing a school had been listed as one of the choices in the survey, I wonder how different the results might have been and what effect it would have had on the board's final decision.

Liked kids play

I recently took my two daughters and a little friend to see the Village Theatre presentation of "The Invisible Dragon." We all thoroughly enjoyed this excellent children's show; the acting was superb, the costuming and set design most attractive and the entire performance a delight, especially for younger children.

We look forward eagerly to future productions of this accomplished theatre group.

PHILADELPHIA, April 14 — Virginia delegate Carter Braxton wrote an uncle that any independence move, which he opposed, seemed far off. He cited the hope that Britain's peace commission might restore unity, noted the lack of a strong American navy and said of independence: "If it was now asserted, the continent would be torn in pieces by intestine wars and convulsions."

On this day in history:

• In 1861, the flag of the Confederacy was raised over Ft. Sumter, S.C., as Union troops there surrendered.

• In 1865, John Wilkes Booth crept into the box of President Abraham Lincoln at Ford theater in Washington and shot him. Lincoln died the next morning.

• In 1910, President William Howard Taft set a precedent by throwing out the first baseball to open the major league season.

• In 1975, screen and stage star Frederic March died of cancer at the age of 77.

ago that poor blood circulation might cause problems. They began in 1960.

A series of operations was needed on Yurosky's left leg. The first six were corrective surgery, work on his veins and muscles.

THE SEVENTH was amputation below the left knee in 1971. He was hospitalized 248 days. Gangrene developed.

"They kept taking more off, trying to save it so they wouldn't have to cut above the knee," Yurosky said.

After the 11th operation, his left leg finally healed. He learned to walk with crutches, then an artificial limb.

Now the right leg has gone bad.

"I might lose that anytime," he said. "I go for checkups twice a month. They take blood and different things like that, different tests. I'm not too good with medical terms."

Albert Yurosky does not get around very much. He can go outside during the summertime. He enjoys bingo.

THERE IS A Veterans Administration check which arrives each month. It can't be that great. Yurosky has applied for additional Social Security benefits, another $47.50 per month.

Most days, Albert Yurosky watches television and writes letters.

"I always did want to be a writer, but I never got to it," he said. "Some lady had me enrolled in a pen pal club, though."

Albert Yurosky said he had to leave now.

"My right foot is getting cramped," he said. "I'm going to have to take one of my pills. Is there anything else you wanted to know?"

No, that would be enough.

"Well, I'm glad you helped me," he said. "Thanks a lot."

Albert Yurosky lives on Rural Rte. 1, Box C-19, McDonald, Pa. 15057.

There's still time. If you want to send a card, he'll probably receive it by Easter.

6 area students win scholarships

Six Northwest suburban students have been awarded corporate-sponsored merit scholarships by the National Merit Scholarship Corp.

Local winners and their sponsors are: Samuel J. Cox, Hoffman Estates High School, United Air Lines Foundation; Joan Brown, Palatine High School, Motorola; Keith A. Kienker, Palatine High School, Esmark, Inc.; Laura A. Bryant, Rolling Meadows High School, C.I.T. Foundation; Paul R. Wossidlo, Conant High School, United Air Lines Foundation; and Leslie A. Busch, Schaumburg High School, United Air Lines Foundation.

The scholarships are financed by 270 corporations, foundations, professional associations, unions and trusts. Each corporate-sponsored scholarship is worth $1,000 to $6,000 during the undergraduate years of college. The annual stipend ranges from $250 to a maximum of $1,500 per year. The amount is based on the college attended and the amount the student's family contributes to college expenses.

The corporate sponsored scholarships are one of three awarded by the National Merit Scholarship Corp. Winners of the National Merit $1,000 scholarships will be announced April 22 and winners of the college sponsored four year scholarships will be announced April 29.

More than one million students entered the 1976 competition by taking qualifying tests in 1974. Last fall 15,000 semifinalists were named.

A total of 1,300 high school seniors nationwide were named winners of the corporate sponsored scholarships.

Lutheran General sets talk on dyslexia

The reading disability called dyslexia will be the topic of public program at 8 p.m. April 22 in the chapel auditorium of Lutheran General Hospital, Park Ridge.

Dr. Ira Rosenfeld will discuss the causes and treatment of dyslexia, a disability in which a person cannot read properly or understand what he reads. It is estimated that approximately 10 per cent of children in school are afflicted with the disability.

Timber embargo—forest industry peril

by LEA TONKIN

The "great toilet tissue issue" might sound humorous to the man on the street.

The way Chicago executive Howell Howard sees it, however, the future of the forest products industry and consumer prices for household goods are wrapped up in this timber embargo controversy. Howard is president of Edward Hines Lumber Co.

Toilet tissue is only one of many consumer products which will be affected by added controls on timber harvesting in the national forests, Howell said.

"In Illinois, it would mean a tremendous increase in the price of a home," he said. "and the demand for homes is increasing."

HOWELL HOWARD

THE CONTROVERSY started when conservationists criticized timber cutting in West Virginia's Monongahela National Forest. They won a court decision that bans unrestricted harvesting on the national forest lands, citing provisions in the 1897 Organic Act. The only trees that can be cut are dead, physiologically mature or large. The regulation has been extended to nine national forests in Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina and South Carolina.

Howard is among several lumber company executives calling for remedial legislation to allow intensive management of forest lands.

"We should be growing timber faster, especially in the west," he said. Clear cutting and other modern forestry practices will encourage the rapid growth of timber supply, provide wildlife habitat and allow recreational use of the land, Howard said. "The environmentalists really want it locked up for a single use.

"Man is disturbing things, but man can also manage the forests," Howard said. He supports the forest industry bill (S. 3091) introduced by U.S. Sen. Hubert Humphrey. The measure would allow national forest management for water, wildlife, timber and recreation interests, he said. Edward Hines Lumber depends on national forest land for its own timber business.

Howard predicts the public will be affected by forest product shortages, rising prices and industry unemployment if the rival forest management bill introduced by U.S. Sen. Jennings Randolph, D-W.Va., is passed. The National Forest Timber Reform Act of 1976 (S.2926) was introduced in the U.S. House of Representatives by U.S. Rep. George Brown, D-Calif., as H.R. 11894.

ACCORDING TO the Des Plaines Valley chapter of the Sierra Club and the Washington-based Coalition to Save Our National Forests, the Randolph bill should be supported as an alternative to the forest giveaway policies in the Humphrey measure. In a "legislative alert," the local Sierra Club chapter said the Humphrey bill "would give timber company loggers the right to cut trees in the National Forests without any legislative guidelines to protect wildlife, soil, water or recreation resources."

If the forest industry bill is passed, the Sierra group said, "The American people will have lost a golden opportunity for many, many years to secure wise legislative reforms in timber management and timber sale practices in the national forests."

Rep. Brown said the reform bill he sponsored will set reasonable limits on clearcutting — a practice in which lumbermen cut all timber in an area. The 25-acre limit on such cuts will prevent overuse of national forests, Brown said.

Although opponents say Brown's bill would reduce national forest timber harvests by 40 per cent, he said the 15 to 20 per cent reduction would be offset by increased private production.

The national forest logging controversy is one of several trends affecting the Edward Hines Lumber business, Howard said. In addition to court and legislative activity, the company follows the ups and downs of the housing industry, the money markets and consumer demands.

Howard said the company will continue to specialize in wood products and related merchandise at its Chicago-area stores. The home improvement center concept attracts do-it-yourselfers regardless of the home building cycle. Howard expects home building starts to continue at a steady pace through 1976, "although not as good as in 1973."

Local Edward Hines stores include outlets in Mount Prospect, Wheeling and Palatine. One additional northwest suburban store is slated to open in 1976. The company reported 1975 sales of some $170 million.

First quarter gains adjustment

Slow stock turnover mars Dow gain of 12.99

NEW YORK (UPI) — With the aid of a last-hour bargain hunting spree, blue chips scored their best gain Tuesday in nearly two weeks. The second slowest turnover of the year on the New York Stock Exchange, however, kept Wall Street from cheering.

The Dow Jones industrial average, after fluctuating most of the session, soared 12.99 points to 984.26, registering the best gain since it climbed 13.78 points to a three-year high of 1,009.21 March 24.

The blue-chip average managed to gain 2.99 points Monday after plunging 35.81 points the previous four sessions in what analysts said signaled the beginning of a major adjustment from first quarter gains. Tuesday's surge was not surprising considering the previous losses, analysts said.

STANDARD & POOR'S 500-stock index rose 0.85 to 101.05, the NYSE common stock index added 0.40 to 53.73 and the average price of a NYSE common share increased by 26 cents.

Although advances topped declines, 831 to 576, there were 435 unchanged issues among the 1,842 issues crossing the tape, reflecting considerable investor uncertainty.

Analysts said the lack of volume demonstrated the market lacked conviction and that it had entered a period of adjustment following a sharp climb during the first quarter.

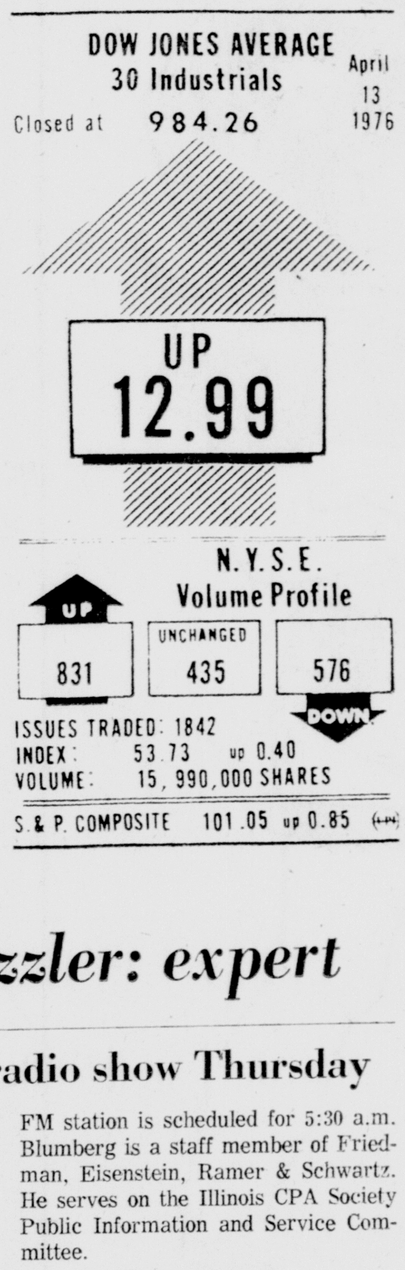
MOTORS, OILS, chemicals, electronics and computers were pacesetters in the late bargain-hunting rally. Earnings reports influenced a number of issues in a variety of ways.

Merrill Lynch, the most active Big Board issue, fell 1½ to 26 3/8 on 275,000 shares. Although the nation's largest brokerage reported record first quarter earnings of $1.23 a share, compared with 94 cents a year ago, a number of analysts said the results were disappointing. Also, they said the market's volume decline would influence the firm's later earnings.

Commonwealth Oil was the second most active Big Board issue, off 5/8 to 9¾ on 155,600 shares. Coastal States Gas, which lost a point Monday, was third, off ¼ to 9½ on 151,900 shares.

Prices closed lower in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange. The average price of an Amex share declined by 1 cent. Volume totaled 2,000,000 shares, compared with 2,080,000 traded Monday.

What diminished the blue-chip surge was the fact the volume of 15,990,000 shares was the slowest since 10,300,820 were traded Jan. 2. Monday's turnover was a slow 16,300,000 shares.



Income tax form 1040 a puzzler: expert

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A professor at California State University says millions of Americans — including many who are well educated — cannot understand income tax form 1040 as it is written.

Dr. Fred Pyrczak used graduate students in the Cal State School of Education, most of whom are public school teachers, to prove his point.

The students did well on the first half — word comprehension — he said. "But when it came to applying the instructions, their scores were so low that one could have surmised they were functionally illiterate."

He said they understood the words, but couldn't understand the instructions because of ambiguous words and phrases.

IN THE SECOND part of the experiment, funded by the National Science Foundation, he rewrote the test and asked the same questions. The same students performed 25 per cent better.

Dr. Pyrczak said the vocabulary of form 1040 falls within 9th or 10th grade reading levels and most 15 to 16 year olds should be able to understand one-half to three-quarters of the questions.

But that, he said, is not very reassuring.

"It is well known that many Americans cannot read as well as the average 10th grader. In fact, a recent study reports that about 12 million Americans, age 14 or older, cannot even read as well as the average 4th grader."

He said he has written the IRS in hopes it will underwrite the costs of his research which would lead to wholesale revision of the tax forms.

Tax reform topic of radio show Thursday

Bob Blumberg, a Palatine resident and certified public accountant, will discuss tax reform on a WSDM radio program Thursday.

Bank assets reach all-time high

The First National Bank of Des Plaines assets reached a record $158,254,360 as of March 31, said Arthur R. Weiss, president.

Weiss said assets increased 12 per cent compared to the $140,199,689 reported one year earlier.

"Deposits improved to $129,352,089 from $119,204,255, or 8 per cent over March 31 last year," Weiss said. "Net earnings increased 4 per cent from $396,1234 to $413,724.

"It is apparent that our performance is a reflection of the gradual strengthening of business in the Des Plaines area and returning consumer confidence. We expect this trend to continue at a steady pace through the balance of this year," he said. Weiss said the bank will soon open a convenience walk-in area.

Passover—a time for Jews to celebrate freedom

The symbolism of matzoh, unleavened bread, is taught early.

Photos by Jim Frost

by LYNN ASINOF

Passover begins at sundown tonight and will bring to the seder dinner table the uniquely Jewish combination of religious ritual and social consciousness.

The holiday, which celebrates the memory of the Hebrew exodus from Egypt, is about freedom. It is a Jewish tradition to relate the meaning of the festival to modern times.

"The middle portion of the Haggadah (prayer book) specifically says that each Jew should look upon Passover as if he personally went out from Egypt," said Rabbi Mordecai Rosen of Beth Judea, Long Grove.

"THE EXHORTATION TO relive in each generation what took place keeps it fresh so that it will never become an historical event," he said.

In the 1960s this tradition prompted civil rights discussions during Passover. In recent years, concern has shifted to the problems of Soviet Jewry and the Middle Ast.

Although the focus of Passover discussions may change with time, Rabbi Michael Meyers of Schaumburg's Or Chadash said the meaning is still the same.

"There is a timelessness about Passover, indeed about all Jewish holidays. The only thing that changes is the circumstances," he said. "At times it is the blacks who are oppressed, at times it is the Jews who are oppressed."

THIS YEAR, AREA rabbis have several concerns as the Passover season approaches, including a growing one over Jewish identity. Rabbi Hillel Gamoran of Beth Tikvah, Hoffman Estates, relates to the freedom discussed in the Passover seder service.

"The use of our freedom in our own country is very much related to Passover," he said. "What use is it if you have an exodus to become free if you are not going to live by that heritage."

Rabbi Meyers agreed, saying the sages taught that Israel was redeemed because its people did not change their name, their dress or their speech. "The Jews were only elevated to the point where thy could leave Egypt because they retained their religious identity," he said.

Noting there are 5 million Jews living among 215 million Americans, Rabbi Meyers said, "Obviously if we are to survive as an ethnic and religious entity we are going to have to have pride."

MANY RABBIS ARE urging their congregations to leave an empty place at the seder table this year in honor of the Russian Jews who cannot observe Passover. Rabbi Floyd Herman said there also are persecuted Jews living in Arab countries who should be in our thoughts at Passover.

"Another concern is at the end of the seder we always say 'next year in Jerusalem,' and every year there seems to be new problems in Israel," he said.

The emphasis on freedom is not unique to Passover among the Jewish holidays. Rabbi Rosen said Hanukkah commemorates the first recorded struggle for religious freedom, while Purim celebrates an effort to retain Jewishness despite the efforts of a Persian anti-semite.

"This explains why the Jew is always in the forefront in the fight of civil rights and unions," he said.

Rabbi Herman said the idea of freedom is not limited to just the Jews as they celebrate the exodus from Egypt.

"There is always a hope that this sort of freedom can be extended to all people," he said. "We have a role to play in bringing it closer."

Candles are lit at the beginning of seder.

A model seder for preschoolers at Beth Tikvah, Hoffman Estates, involves the parents too.

Dry farm fields indicate drought possibility in state

Illinois farm fields are unusally dry this spring and "the stage is set" for a bad drought this year, Agriculture Director Robert J. "Pud" Williams said Tuesday.

Williams said in an average year, Illinois soil usually contains 22 per cent more moisture than it does now.

"Field tiles are usually running full at this time of year," he said. "Now some are dry and others are just barely dripping." Field tiles are tiles placed underground for drainage.

While most farms have enough surface moisture to germinate seed and most farmers already are planting, Williams said, there may not be enough water in the ground in some areas to support a growing crop unless more rain falls.

"Heavy moisture is about a foot lower than it usually is," he said.

"The stage is set for a real bad year."

Illinois briefs

Volunteer CB unit urged

State Treasurer Alan Dixon proposed Tuesday that the state coordinate a voluntary network of mobile Citizens Band radio operators to provide emergency aid on highways and assist with civil defense.

Dixon is the Democratic candidate for secretary of state. He said he feels the secretary's office is a logical coordinator for the plan, because it issues drivers' licenses and vehicle license plates.

The plan would involve issuance of special license plates or vehicle stickers for autos equipped with citizens band radios; establishment of a special emergency code on CB Channel 10; and development of emergency display signs that would be used by motorists experiencing trouble.

Dixon said he believes the system "would not only increase travel safety on Illinois highways, it would also aid law enforcement officers in the performance of their duties.

Welfare funds bill stalled

A welfare bill to spend $145.6 million more than the $1.632 billion already earmarked for public aid this year stalled Tuesday in the Illinois House, putting off until after Easter a final vote.

Majority leader Gerald Shea, D-Riverside, said the House should hurry its vote so the Senate has time to act after the Easter recess before available welfare funds run out.

The legislature returns April 26 and Public Aid Director James Trainor says he needs the deficiency appropriation by April 29.

Of the $145.6 million, $4.6 million would go to the aged, blind and disabled, $50.3 million would aid families of dependent children and $90.7 million would go for medical payments.

The measure (H3358), called late in the day as lawmakers streamed from the Capitol for their 11-day Easter break, might have passed if all House members stayed for the vote. The tally was 83-44 with 89 votes required and Shea postponed a final vote.

Narcotics chief rapped

A special agent for the Internal Revenue Service says he saw the leader of a federal narcotics unit drink beer during a raid on an Edwardsville home in 1973.

David Kurz of Trenton, the special agent, was called as a witness in the trial of nine drug agents accused of violating the civil rights of John Meiners, whose home was raided April 20, 1973.

The raid was one of several conducted that month in Southern Illinois by agents of the now-defunct Drug Abuse Law Enforcement Agency. Most of the same agents were acquitted in 1974 on federal charges of illegal search and conspiracy to deprive persons of their civil rights.

Meiners is seeking $4.6 million in damages. He said he was arrested and held for 77 hours in jail without cause. Meiners was never charged because agents were looking for his roommate.

Marigold support blooms

Horseman Bruce Mitchell rode off into the Pekin sunset Tuesday on the first leg of a proposed "coast-to-coast" ride to gather support for the marigold as the national flower.

Mitchell, 24, of Collinsville, had only the desire for a cross country trip when he rode into town last week.

But Pekin is the home of the late Sen. Everett Dirksen, R-Ill., who championed the marigold in word and deed.

One of Dirksen's flower disciples, Dick Lower of the Marigolds for America Committee, persuaded Mitchell to become the "marigold cowboy" and ride for marigolds across the United States.

Mitchell said he plans to stop in cities along the way and pick up pouches of local soil and marigold seeds to send back to Pekin for its annual marigold festival.

Relax, recuperate

...and leave the breathing to us

by ELEANOR RIVES

It is 6 a.m.

Still dark outside. Absolutely quiet in the sterile hospital halls. Except for the metallic rattle of the equipment being brought to the room.

Drowsily the pneumonia patient sits up as the intermittent positive pressure breathing machine is hooked up to the smaller Ultra-sonic Nebulizer. A fresh hose and mouthpiece are attached. Encouraged by the therapist, the patient begins her five-minute session of mouth breathing, deliberately moving her diaphragm slowly, smoothly in and out, forcing the moisturized air ever deeper into her hungs.

She will do this four times a day, five minutes at a time — this particular patient.

And, now that she is used to it, she doesn't mind a bit. She herself can feel the difference, the deeper, easier breathing, the looser cough, the ability to bring up the diluted secretions in her lungs.

THIS IS respiratory therapy, a technique refined and perfected during the past 20 years. It has, for the most part, made the old oxygen tent and cylinder obsolete.

The people in charge of this therapy are a team — with each other and with the rest of the hospital personnel. They have one outstanding quality in common: they all like people.

At Holy Family Hospital in Des Plaines, the cardio-respiratory therapy department, under the medical supervision of Dr. George Nelson, internal medicine, and Dr. Robert Bielinski, cardiologist, consists of 14 people: Alistair Barman, director; Bill Barrett, assistant director; and 12 therapists. The hospital has on hand 13 respirators, 4 ventilators, 12 ultrasonic aerosol units, 4 respiration monitors, and a variety of related respiratory therapy equipment.

IN A 24-HOUR period, the department can give total respiratory care to about 40 patients. Some — those on ventilators (which do all the breathing for the patient) — require intensive care and attention.

"Our pulmonary cases may be anything from a common cold to advanced stages of lung disease," said Barman, a Scotsman who has not yet lost his brogue. "We treat patients with pneumonia, bronchitis, asthma, emphysema, chronic lung obstructions, cardiac arrest and respiratory arrest. Our long-term objective is to maintain the patient in an active status so far as humanly possible."

He describes intermittent positive pressure breathing as a mechanical form of breathing exercise, allowing one to breathe deeply and clear out his lungs. The aerosol unit, the Ultra-sonic Nebulizer, is a fine example of space age medicine — its ultra-sound waves produce high humidity and deposit small droplets of moisture in all areas of the respiratory tract.

BARMAN SEES future advances in the form of breath stimulators, some of which are already in use. One type works with a light indicator, another with audible sounds. "It's almost a type of biofeedback," he says. "We will be programming people to breathe properly. The possibilities of biofeedback are exciting. It will enable patients to learn to utilize their own available resources to meet their physiological needs."

Bill Barrett, assistant director of the respiratory therapy department, enjoys the patient contact intrinsic to his job. "I enjoy making people feel comfortable," he said. "After all, they are in an abnormal situation."

HE CONSIDERS respiratory therapy a great step forward, almost an exact science. "It's one way to give the patient the best care with the best personnel available as inexpensively as possible."

Barman pointed out that the friendliness of the therapist is important. Patients may balk, may be fearful. "In this day and age, it's every patient's right to refuse treatment," he said. "We must inform him exactly what respiratory therapy will and will not do. A patient should know what's happening and why."

WITH OR WITHOUT a treatment mask, the intermittent positive pressure breathing machine teaches diaphragm control and brings deeper, freer breathing to respiratory patients, such as Mrs. Theresa McCabe, Palatine, shown here at Holy Family Hospital.

Cheryl Linde and Karen Lulik are two of those friendly therapists who love their job.

SAID 22-year-old Cheryl, "It's very satisfying to see someone feeling rotten start to feel good."

Cheryl knows exactly how it feels to be the patient. A chronic asthmatic and bronchitis victim, she has undergone the therapy herself.

To become a respiratory therapist, she followed a five-semester program at Triton Community College, earning an associate of science degree. Since Triton, in River Grove, is the only area community college offering this program, students in the Harper and Oakton districts may enroll at in-district fees.

"It's a great profession for a woman," says Cheryl. "From the standpoint of patient contact and salary, it is comparable to nursing."

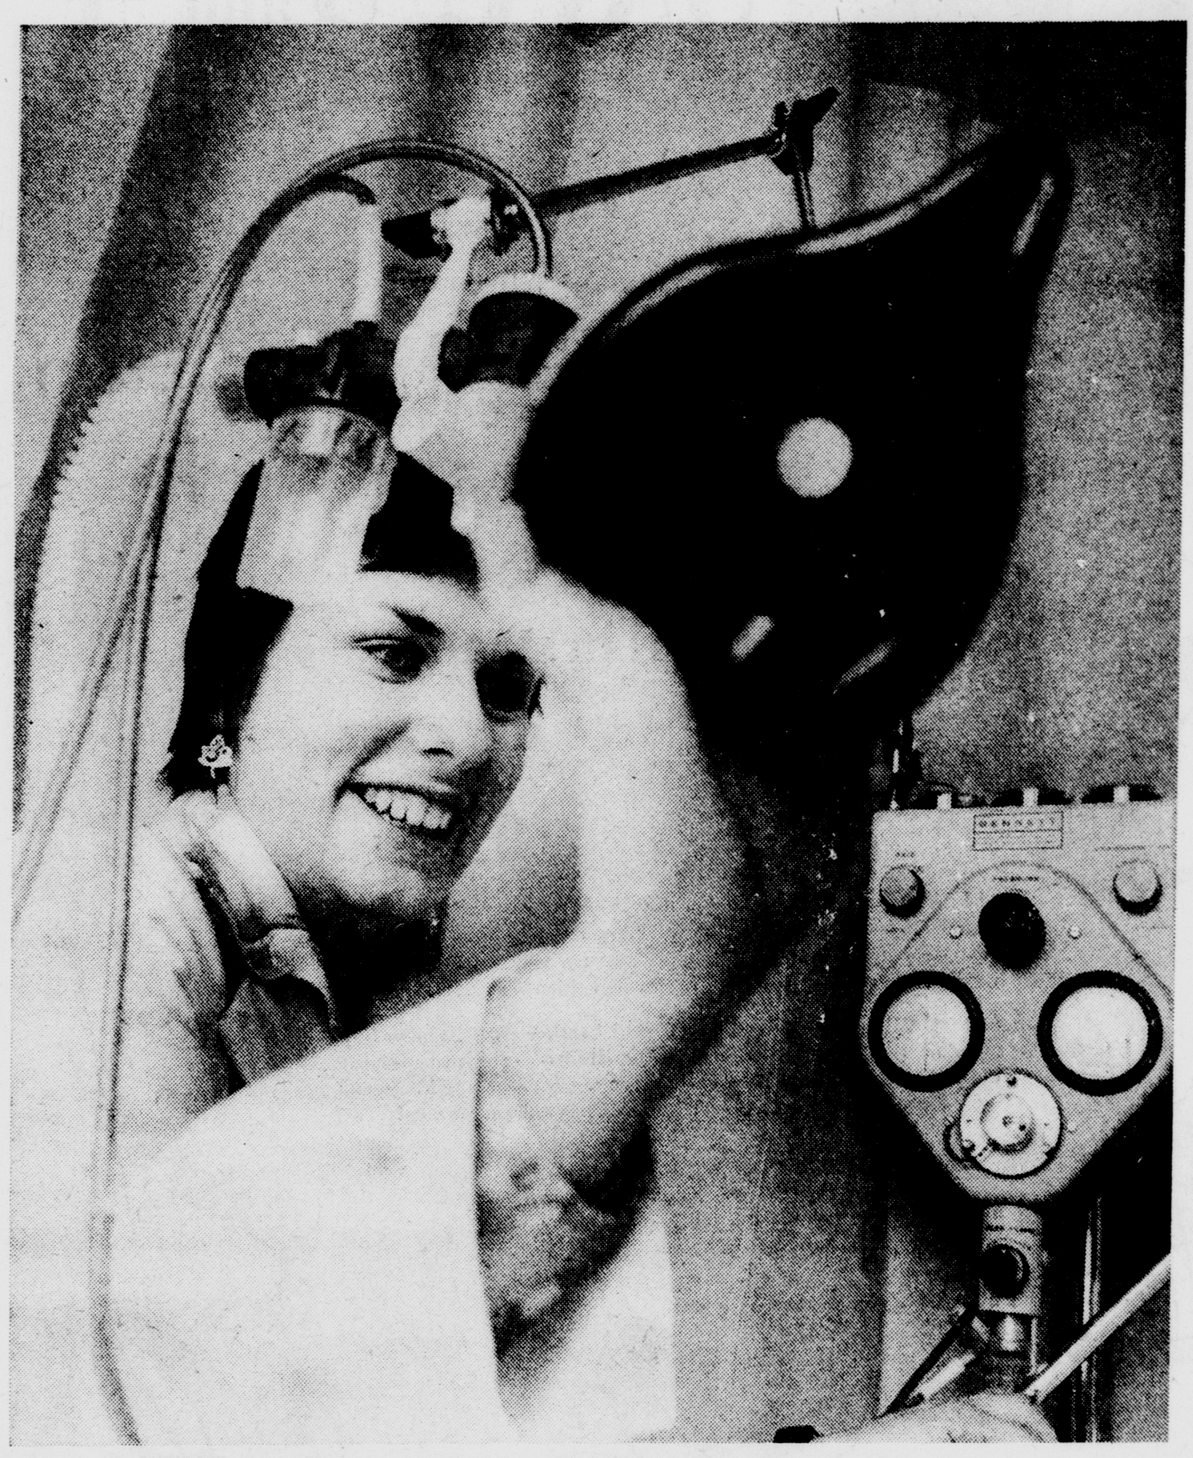
OF ALL Cheryl's cases, there are two that stand out in her mind. One was that of a 67-year-old man whose lung was removed because of cancer. Following a tracheotomy and numerous insertions and removal of a breathing tube, he went on respiratory therapy. "Today he is breathing well on his own with his one normal lung," she said.

The other case was that of a 16-year-old boy hit by a car. Hospitalized three months, he was unconscious for a long time, his breathing regulated by a ventilator. "To see him get off the ventilator by means of respiratory therapy and become self-supporting was a real thrill," she said.

KAREN LULIK earned her associate degree at the Central YMCA College in Chicago. Like Cheryl, the cases which stand out in her mind are the ventilator cases where intensive work with the machines combined with breathing exercises eventually enabled patients to breathe independently.

Both Karen and Cheryl have developed an interest in cardiology respiration and hope to become more involved in that area. It's an interest they share with Barman, their director, who is currently setting up a complete coronary rehabilitation program at Holy Family Hospital.

Meanwhile, the knowledge that respiratory therapists are on duty 24 hours round the clock helps a good many hospital patients to "breathe easier."



SHE LOVES PEOPLE and she loves to talk, a happy combination for Karen Lulik, one of 14 respiratory therapists at Holy Family Hospital. To increase her skill in cardiology respiration, she spends two nights a week in cardio-pulmonary review at the Chicago Lung Association.

Benefits in having a will

Women and children first

by Julie Martoccio

Dear Attorney Martoccio,

What protection do I actually have, or not have, due to my husband's not having a will? He says that since I'm beneficiary on insurance policies and joint owner on our home and cars, a will is not necessary. Nevertheless, I am concerned but cannot state a specific error in his reasoning. We have a large family, mostly teenagers and one pre-teen. — Concerned.

Dear Concerned,

Under a joint tenancy arrangement, the property goes to the survivor when the other partner dies. This is a commonly used method and works out satisfactorily where the results would be the same if a will were created. It is especially true when the estate is small and there are no minor children, but while you may not need a will, advantages in having one are several.

• Without a will you may by-pass probate, but there are estate and inheritance tax savings to consider. Your husband is overlooking tax breaks that he may receive by will, trust or other forms of estate planning. It's certainly worth investigating since your estate assets as quoted appear to have a potential for increasing and possibly before either of you pass on may even go beyond the $120,000-marital tax deduction. Your home alone has probably doubled or tripled since you purchased it, and probably will continue to increase in value. A lawyer or estate planner can work these out for you.

• A will tells the world exactly what you want to do or have done with your possessions.

If you wish one of your children to have more because that child has less earning potential than the others, or needs money to further its education, you may provide accordingly.

• A will can take care of "loose ends" such as personal possessions, pieces of furniture. You'd be surprised at how many court cases are fought over what seems a small object. In one instance, a brother and sister appealed to the court to settle who owned a rocking chair that belonged to their father. The judge pondered for some time before arriving at a King Solomon decision. Each heir had the right to use the chair for six months he said, but when one died, the chair belonged to the survivor!

• If you and your husband should die in a common disaster without a will, the laws of intestacy could apply. In your situation if you wished your children to share equally, there would be no problem. But if your child were still a minor, wouldn't you want to provide for his or her care allocating funds for the child's education and support and choosing whom you wish to act as its guardian?

When someone objects to the costs of making a will and having it probated, it's often the same person who bought insurance to cover unlikely occurrences such as tornadoes, floods, etc. Yet a will is less expensive and protects a person against problems more likely to happen.

Too, even without a will, there is a certain amount of work in settling an estate. Among other things, forms must be filled out and filed for taxes, titles must pass, creditors notified and reimbursed, debts must be colleted.

After one spouse dies (especially if the couple has children), the other would probably want a will. Why not play safe and have one now?

Beauty book author discusses skin care

by ALISON GODDARD

"Women don't want a lot of hocus-pocus about romance and illusions — we just want our skin to look better," says Deborah Chase, author of "The Medically Based No-Nonsense Beauty Book" (Pocket Books, $1.95).

Straight talk is what she delivers in a book that's crammed with practical ideas, specific treatments and easy-to-understand scientific facts about skin and hair. She names brand names she thinks do the job they promise, and offers recipes for inexpensive preparations women can make at home. In a recent interview, she responded to these questions about skin care for the mature woman.

Q: What's the most important thing to do for your skin?

A: Under 30 — clean your skin. Over 30 — stay out of the sun! The damage done to the skin by the sun is far worse than anything natural aging can do. If you must tan, limit yourself to no more than 20 full days of exposure a year. Use a good commercial sunscreen containing para-aminobenzoic acid (PABA for short). And wear sunglasses summer and winter to help prevent those fine lines that come from squinting.

Q: Aside from avoiding sunlight, what else can you do to ward off fine lines and wrinkles?

A: One reason we wrinkle is because we constantly use our face muscles — smiling, talking, eating, frowning. After 40 years, the skin is stretched and sags. You can't keep a poker face. But you can decrease wear and tear by rethinking mannerisms such as wrinkling your brow or pouting. Also, try sleeping on your back, face up. And avoid facial massages and facial isometrics or exercises. All you're doing is loosening the muscles more. By cleansing properly and using certain cosmetics, you can have skin that appears less lined.

Q: What's the best way to clean your face?

A: Cleansing creams and lotions that wash off with water are the best for every skin type. The kind you tissue off never gets your face really clean. Lined skin is often dull, rough and unattractive because there's a layer of dead cells stuck on top. Once a week use an abrasive with your cleanser — plain white cornmeal is fine. Then rinse. You'll be amazed at the difference.

Q: How do facial masks help the skin?

A: They pull off the top layer of dead cells, stimulate the circulation and even out your color. Gel masks are best for dry skin, and the clay masks for oily skin. While they are on your face, they provide a protective coating that allows the skin to build up a nice supply of water underneath. That's the thing mature skin needs — water, not oil.

Q. Is that why you advocate facial saunas?

A: Yes. In my weekly home facial program, I advise boiling up a big pot of water and standing it on a steady table. Drape a towel over your head tent-like, and steam your face for five minutes. Then wash with your water-soluble cleanser and scrubbing grains. Rinse and apply a mask for 20 minutes. Rinse again and follow with a rich moisturizer or night cream. Your skin will feel smoother and softer.

Q: Do you see any important beauty breakthroughs in the near future?

A: I do, although right now they are strictly in the experimental stage. Scientists are working on chemical derivatives that could stimulate the growth of fibers that are the key to firm, smooth skin. We should know within the next five years whether the effort will pan out. If it does, these products will be available by prescription only.

Q: Meanwhile . . .

A: Stay out of the sun, use a sunblock and wear sunglasses year round . . .

And let the fashion designers bring back the big hat and parasol!

Jumping no help for osteoporosis

It is my misfortune to have osteoporosis and with it the loss of height. I have heard that jumping rope would help, but I don't know how. It is a shock treatment on the same principle that a deer grows new antlers when he has lost his.

I would appreciate any information you can give me about the subject of osteoporosis as I have already lost about two inches and am afraid I might lose more. I am only 4 feet 11 so you can see I am very disturbed about this.

Osteoporosis means loss of calcium and bone tissue. It is common, particularly in small Anglo Saxon women, after the menopause.

I don't think much of your idea of treatment. In fact, as the vertebrae lose bone tissue they are more susceptible to fractures. The kind of jarring that you might get with rope skipping might not be the best in the world for you.

I do approve of proper exercise for patients with osteoporosis. Those exercises should be directed toward strengthening the muscles in the back and prevent the curvature of the spine that often occur with the changes in bones in this problem. These are the kind of exercises that involve the backward movement of the arm in the way that the backstroke is accomplished by a swimmer and other exercises that strengthen the muscles between the shoulder blades and those that hold the spine erect.

You should certainly be under a doctor's supervision. You definitely should have an increased amount of calcium in your diet, at least the equivalent found in one quart of milk a day. If you can't tolerate milk, you need to take calcium tablets. Female hormones are helpful in some women at least temporarily. Studies done at the Mayo Clinic suggest that a combination of calcium, flouride and Vitamin D is helpful in arresting the process in some patients and even reversing to some extent the bone loss.

Those who want more information on this problem can send 50 cents for The Health Letter, number 6-10, Osteoporosis, Bone Softening. Send a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for mailing. Address your letter to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 326, San Antonio, Tex. 78292.

I am writing to ask about the practice of fasting for health reasons, not dietary. Recently I read it was good for the body to fast one day a week. Another article said that a seven-to 10-day fast drinking only fruit and vegetable juices would clear the cells of mucous deposits and make a person feel better and more energetic. Is this a medically proven fact? Please comment on this.

You have been reading pure, unadultered hokum by someone who doesn't have the slightest knowledge of how body cells work. There isn't such a thing as mucous deposits that need to be cleared from the cells.

I don't think very much of fasting. Even a single day of complete fasting can cause weakness and severe headache in many people. Seven to 10 days causes major chemical disturbances in the body, marked fatigue, loss of muscle mass and disturbances in body chemistry. Far from making a person more energetic, it results in their being markedly fatigued. Long term fasting should be in the hospital under medical supervision.

Tiger's milk great source of energy

Dear Dorothy: Don't know whether you're a health food fan, but whether yes or no, you might know something about the tiger's milk sold at the stores. It's fairly expensive and I wonder if it can be made at home and come close to the commercial product.—Sybil Finnell.

This is one drink that can be adapted by anyone, provided the major ingredients are used. Tiger's milk is a great source of energy, whether one's a health food freak or not. My sister made her own and had more pep than any 10 of us put together. She put one quart of skim milk in the blender and added two teaspoons of brewers' yeast, one-half cup of powdered milk (or soy flour) and one-half can of frozen orange juice. She used it on cereal, but many use it as a straight food drink. Another good recipe calls for blending a quart of two per cent milk, one-half cup powdered brewers' yeast, one-half cup of powdered skim milk, two tablespoons of blackstrap molasses and the juice of half a lemon. Try both. See which you like best.

Dear Dorothy: I have 40 squares of crochet I made several years ago, but they are so yellow I can't use them. How can I get them white again?—Mrs. L. L. Dobson

There's no reason why you can't use chlorine bleach solution to whiten them. However, you'd be wise to read the instructions on how to test the bleach on them and try it on one square first.

Dear Dorothy: Had the same problem of the bottom of my pants legs collecting lint, dust and so on from carpeting. So, I sprayed the inside of my dryer with an anti-static and softener spray and turned the dryer on air fluff and put my dry pants in and let run for a few minutes. No further trouble.—G. Williams

Look Younger For Springtime

Spring is the season when your spirits lift as you look forward to pleasant weather after a long, dreary winter. But springtime, with its sudden wind gusts and rapid changes of temperature can be hard on your skin, drying it so you can look older than you'd like. You can look older than necessary as early as your twenties, you know. Nature's own supply of moisture and oil has begun to slow down by then, so your skin becomes dryer and its radiant youthful appearance may start to slip away.

The past winter probably hasn't helped either. Look what you've put your skin through! You've gone between icy outdoor weather and drying indoor heat over and over again. That's like taking your face through all the climates of the world day after day. An honest look in your mirror will show you what winter has done to your skin.

Happily, you can begin to look your youngest for springtime almost before the first crocuses bloom. Join the younger-looking women of all ages from many parts of the world who share the secret of a remarkable beauty fluid that helps every woman look her youngest.

This unique beauty fluid, discovered by beauty connoisseurs, is known in the United States as Oil of Olay beauty lotion. The remarkable fluid works with nature in a mysterious way to ease away skin dryness so you can look just as young as you can.

Oil of Olay acts like your own natural moisture to work on dryness. Pure moisture and tropical oils penetrate your skin's surface deeply and astonishingly quickly, with never a greasy afterfeel. You'll see your skin grow softer and smoother almost the moment you soothe on the skin-loving liquid.

Oil of Olay, faithfully every morning, under makeup or to give your skin a moist environment. Again, faithfully, every night.

You'll find Oil of Olay at your drugstore. You may get the beautiful feeling that your skin is living in an ideal moisty, misty eternal spring.

Spring Beauty Secret

As the weather improves, you'll be more on the go. Be sure that Oil of Olay® travels with you everywhere, in your purse or suitcase.

Simon, liberal senators call for tax revisions

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Both Treasury Secretary William Simon and liberal senators called for tax reform Tuesday, but their definitions of "reform" were radically different.

Simon and the liberals generally agree there should be some form of minimum tax on the rich and there should be curbs on tax "shelters" — the use of artificial losses to offset or defer taxes. But even on these points they disagree on how far to go.

The Senate Finance Committee is working on a major tax revision bill which should reach the Senate floor this summer. The appearance of Simon before the committee and a series of Senate floor statements by liberal senators amounted to skirmishes leading up to the floor battle.

No new proposals came from either session.

Simon said Congress should begin working toward a tax system "which looks as though someone had constructed it on purpose, a simple progressive tax on a broad base which adequately reflects individual taxpayers' ability to pay."

In addition to his minimum tax and tax shelter proposals, Simon emphasized the administration's plan to make permanent the 10 per cent investment tax credit, reduce corporate tax rates from 48 per cent to 46 per cent, and to work toward eventual "integration" of corporate and individual taxes.

Integration amounts to either elimination of the corporate income tax or elimination of capital gains taxes on investment. Its advocates say that corporate income is unfairly taxed twice — once when the corporation makes money and again when it distributes dividends to its stockholders.

Liberals, led by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., view the administration's tax proposals as a series of new breaks for big business, and insist that more than $7 billion can be raised through tax reforms aimed at wealthy individuals who pay little tax and at large corporations.

Kennedy would enact a tough minimum tax and make a number of other changes that tax reformers have advocated for years.

"Almost everywhere we look," Kennedy said, "we find the tax base being eroded by deductions and exemptions . . . by windfall subsidies and questionable incentives for various industries, by benefits that have long since outlived whatever justification they might have had when first enacted, and even by loopholes quietly written into the law for the benefit of particular individuals and corporations."

Senate OKs jobs measure

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Tuesday approved a bill providing about $4 billion to create jobs for the unemployed. It was almost certain to provoke a new veto fight with President Ford.

The vote was 54 to 28. The measure now goes to the House, where there is strong support.

The exact amount of money in the bill is geared to the unemployment rate. At jobless rates predicted by the Congressional Budget Office it would make available $1.1 billion to state and local governments for public works construction projects which could be started within 90 days.

Republicans said President Ford probably would have bought that much.

But by a vote of 48 to 32, the Senate added $1.4 billion to help local governments balance their budgets without having to lay off employes, and another $1.4 billion for water pollution control construction projects.

If unemployment were increase during the next year, the bill would provide up to $5.2 billion.

Backers claimed the bill would create 100,000 public works jobs and keep state and local governments from laying off 100,000 employes.

Ford vetoed a similar public works bill in February after Congress added similar amendments making it total $6 billion.

Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn., told the Senate: "It's my best judgment that if we add on this amendment he'll veto it. My best judgment is he'll sign it if we don't."

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, who proposed the additions on behalf of several senators, said the extra $1.4 billion to state and local governments would create another 100,000 jobs.

Muskie said unemployment, although declining, is still too high and is costing the nation $50 billion a year in unemployment insurance, welfare and lost taxes. To critics who said his amendment added too much to the budget, he replied, "Ponder these costs — the costs of doing nothing."

He said recession now is forcing local governments to lay off employes at a time when economic recovery requires that there be more employment.

Assistant Republican Leader Robert P. Griffin of Michigan also said the bill would be a "top candidate" for presidential veto with the additions.

When Ford vetoed the $6 billion measure in February, the House voted to override the veto. But the Senate fell three votes short of the two-thirds required.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield indicated he thinks there's a chance the Senate might override a veto this time. "The Ides of March," he said, "bring us closer to the election" — an election in which jobs will be a top issue.

House Committee votes tougher gun controls

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Judiciary Committee voted 26 to 6 Tuesday to toughen federal gun control laws and ban the manufacture and importation of cheap handguns known as "Saturday Night Specials."

The committee then voted 20 to 12 to send the bill to the House floor where opponents vowed to offer amendments to substantially weaken its provisions.

The legislation approved by the panel on the first vote was a substitute offered by Rep. Tom Railsback, R-Ill., which knocked out a ban on the sale of cheap handguns contained in the bill originally approved by the judiciary subcommittee on crime.

Other chief provisions in the bill include stiffer federal license fees for gun dealers, mandatory sentences for crimes committed with a firearm, and a minimum 14-day waiting period for anyone purchasing a handgun to enable a police record check.

Approval of the bill represented a sharp reversal of committee sentiment in light of last month's unexpected defeat, by one vote, of a broader handgun control measure.

Opponents charged that the bill was being "railroaded" through the committee, while some liberals argued the measure did not go far enough.

"This is not gun control in any sense of the word," said Rep. John Seiberling, D-Ohio, "but it does move us a step in the right direction."

The manufacturing prohibition would use criteria presently applied to the ban on certain imports.

The bill would raise existing $10 federal license fees for gun dealers to $50 for retailers and $150 for wholesalers.

The Railsback substitute knocked out a provision in the subcommittee version which would have established a handgun tracing center to aid law enforcement authorities.

Under other provisions, crimes committed with a gun would be punishable by mandatory 1 to 10-year sentences for first offenders and 2 to 25 years for second offenders.

Gun control legislation also is pending in the Senate judiciary subcommittee on juvenile delinquency.

Negotiators approve FEC bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House and Senate negotiators agreed Tuesday on a compromise bill creating a new Federal Election Commission.

But the agreement cannot become law before early May, and several presidential aspirants are in serious financial straits without the bill's provision for federal matching funds.

A new FEC became necessary when the Supreme Court ruled March 23 that the previous panel was improperly constituted because the president — not Congress — must appoint all the members.

The compromise makes the new FEC somewhat less independent, and restricts campaign contributions and the manner in which they can be solicited.

Under the bill, presidential candidates who get less than 10 per cent of the popular vote in two successive primaries cannot collect further matching funds. Those who drop out would have to return all funds after campaign debts are settled.

Gunman kills city councilman in Baltimore flashing, it was persistent . . ."

Outside Schaefer's door Miss Nolan had been shot once in the abdomen before the gunman fled down the hall. Police said the assailant raced down a flight of stairs and shot Leone in his sixth floor office.

Police said that Hopkins left Leone's office, headed back to the seventh floor, grabbed Fitzgerald en route, then as police began to arrive shoved his hostage into the office of Council President Walter S. Orlinsky.

"He's got a gun to my head," shouted Fitzgerald, 41. Police drew back from the office door, then heard a shot.

Entering the office, police found Fitzgerald slumped over, bleeding. In the ensuing gunbattle, Hopkins was wounded in the side and police officer Tom Gaither was shot in the leg. University Hospital said Hopkins was in critical condition and Gaither in fair.

"Great tragedy," Schaefer muttered after visiting Fitzgerald and Miss Nolan. "Never know what can happen in a city, don't know why this thing happened . . ."

Leone, a lifelong resident of South Baltimore, was appointed to the council in 1962 and then elected to his first term a year later. He was indicted last year on malfeasance charges for allegedly accepting money to help arrange early parole for a prison inmate. Leone denied the charges.

City Comptroller Hyman A. Pressman said he believed Hopkins was the same man who disrupted the Board of Estimates meeting Monday morning.

"The guy burst in and said 'I've got a problem, who's going to take care of my problem? My house, they're going to take it away from me,'" Pressman said.

Generation of electricity by tides topic of study

The harnessing of tides to generate electricity, long considered economically impractical in the United States, will be the subject of a nine-month, $168,733 study commissioned by the U.S. Energy Research and Development Administration.

The study will be done by the Stone and Webster Engineering Corp., Boston, and will concentrate on places with exceptionally high tides, such as Passamaquoddy Bay, Maine, and Cook Inlet, Alaska.

The study will consider coupling the tidal rise and fall with more conventional hydroelectric power plants and with wind-generated electricity, ERDA said.

The status of tidal power will be surveyed worldwide. France has a tidal generating plant in Brittany between St. Malo and Dinard. This plant provides 240,000 kilowatts. The Soviet Union has an experimental 400-kilowatt tidal plant at Kislaya Guba, north of Murmansk.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers began construction of a tidal power plant at Passamaquoddy Bay in 1935, using a $7 million federal appropriation. But work stopped in 1935 when funding ran out.

The United States and Canada jointly investgiated the possibility of combining Passamaquoddy Bay tidal power with conventional hydroelectric power in 1958. But the two countries concluded that the project could not be competitive with conventionally generated power.

Pat Adam

SUBURBAN LIVING EDITOR

"There has seldom been a dull moment in my years at The Herald, but I would say the most exciting event was the announcement that we had purchased the Day Newspapers. I've found that putting out a daily is far more challenging than working for either a weekly or a tri-weekly paper.

"Personally, I expect life to continue offering the unexpected as well as the expected, and I only hope I can shift gears as needed."

As editor of the Suburban Living department, Pat Adam has overall responsibility for the Suburban Living, Medley and Sugar 'n Spice sections. Both the food editor and the Medley editor work under Pat's supervision. In addition, Pat determines page content, assigns features, does page layouts, writes headlines and coordinates the efforts of the entire staff.

Pat hopes that Suburban Living will continue to provide readers with the information they need to make intelligent choices and decisions in the areas of living, food and nutrition and arts and entertainment.

Pat joined The Herald in 1963, working on the copy desk, and in 1965 was named Suburban Living editor. In 1973, Pat received a second place Penny — the University of Missouri award for Class I dailies women's pages. Under her supervision, The Herald has received the Northern Illinois University award for best women's pages four consecutive times from 1972 to 1975.

A resident of Arlington Heights, Pat enjoys the theatre, reading and traveling.

Record crowd watches Cubs win thriller

by ART MUGALIAN

In baseball, when there is something important to say, or someone famous to honor, or something momentous about to tak eplace, the ballplayers gather at uneasy attention on the white-chalk foul lines before the game.

Then, after the national anthem is warbled by a notable personality, the management sends out a celebrity everybody has heard of but nobody ever expected to see at a ball park. And that celebrity "throws out the first ball."

Real baseball fans — especially loyal Chicago Cub fans, 44,818 of whom showed up for the Cubs' home opener against New York — don't care much for the gala inaugural merriment or Bicentennial formalities of the kind performed at Wrigley Field Tuesday. Even the significance of the Cubs' 101st year in the National League all but escapes them.

Most of the record-breaking crowd came to see good, old-fashioned baseball excitement, which was pretty much what they got: a pair of home runs by Jerry Morales and a bases-loaded pop single in the bottom of the ninth inning by Rick Monday to win the game, 5-4.

It wasn't gimmicks that brought out the biggest opening-day turnout in 101 years of Chicago baseball; it was the game of baseball itself.

It was Mike Garman, the Cubs' fourth pitcher, getting the win after stranding the go-ahead run at second base in the ninth. In true baseball tradition, the Mets squandered their chances, leaving 15 men on base.

But somehow the show was stolen by a couple of non-players, two ageless "veterans" with immortal names who are separated by heritage and a gulf of three generations but are linked by happy coincidence.

Ernie Banks was one of them.

Every time Mr. Banks sets foot on Wrigley Field turf, he revisits the scene of all his greatest triumphs. It was seven years ago almost to the day that Banks hit two homers to celebrate a Cubs' home opener.

The fans acknowledge Banks' every movement.

But Banks was upstaged Tuesday, not by Morales whose two two-run homers were the Cubs' entire attack until the ninth; not even by Monday who singled home Manny Trillo with the winning run after Trillo had tripled.

Banks shared the spotlight with Mrs. Virginia Anson Shanvall, the 77-year-old daughter of "Cap" Anson, who was the Ernie Banks of his century.

Mrs. Shanvall stood by, waiting to throw out that traditional first ball as Banks read from a prepared text.

"The only team to remain in its original birthplace was the original Cubs," Banks informed the large throng of fans. "At third base in the first Cub game was Adrian "Cap" Anson. He was to play in a record 22 seasons in his Cub career . . . He won four batting crowns and was the winningest manager in Cub history, which was instrumental in the fact that the Cubs are the winningest team in major league baseball."

Banks paused and the fans cheered. Most of them were less than a third of Mrs. Shanvall's age and most of them had never head of "Cap" Anson. Still, they cheered.

"Not too many people are aware that Anson was the first of 12 players in the history of baseball to get 3,000 hits," continued Banks.

Ernie Banks then introduced the daughter of the man he had been talking about. The crowd cheered again.

Looking smart in a pink outfit, Mrs. Shanvall tossed the ball twice to Cub catcher Steve Swisher. She accepted a bouquet of roses from Swisher and a kiss from manager Jim Marshall.

Mrs. Shanvall's job was done.

But there was one more thing before the game began. While public address announcer Jim Enright introduced the umpires to a chorus of boos, Ernie banks walked up to the box seat where Mrs. Shanvall sat.

Banks autographed Mrs. Shanvall's scorecard.

Cap Anson would have been proud.

Baseball returns to Wrigley Field

There's nothing quite like it in any sport.

Opening Day, that first home game in the friendly confines of bee-ooo-ti-ful Wrigley Field.

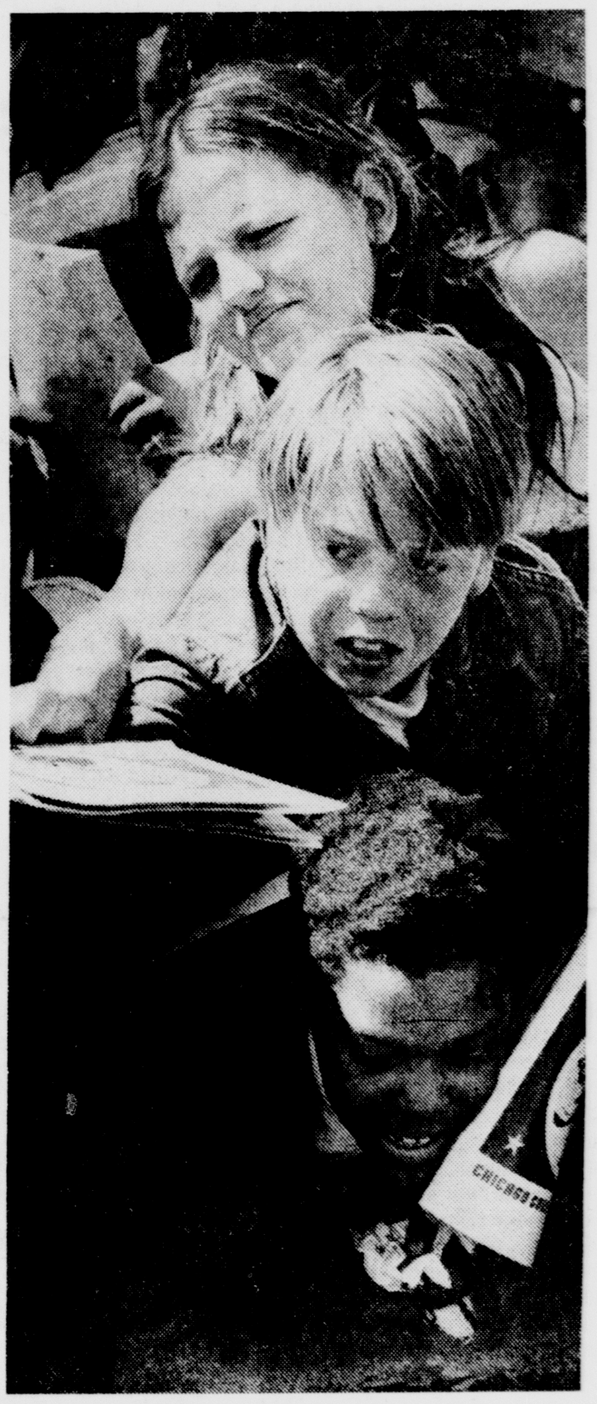
Nobody loses on Opening Day. Everybody has a good time. But when the home town heroes win, and in the ninth inning at that, then it's something to shout about.

Opening Day is a symbol of summer. That's when people take their vacations, a time when they slow down in their work.

The whole world seems to move at an easier pace in the summertime, and the game of baseball is that symbol of a pleasant time. Everyone — man and woman — seems to live a fuller life in the summer.

Everybody can relate to baseball, and that's why this grand old game has such a hold on the public.

Opening Day at Wrigley Field always is a very special event, but it was made even more special Tuesday by a thrilling victory.



Youngsters battle for those coveted autographs.

Gossage pitches Sox to triumph

from Herald wire services

BLOOMINGTON, MINN. — Rich "Goose" Gossage, rescued from the bullpen by new Sox owner Bill Veeck, Tuesday paid his first dividend — a three-hit, one run masterpiece that enabled the Sox to top the Twins, 4-1.

Making his first start since July 5, 1974, last year's bullpen ace struck out eight while walking only two to record his first win and the second Sox win in the first two games of the young season. Chicago is the only unbeaten team remaining in the American League.

The Sox close out the brief stand here with another afternoon contest today. Terry Forster or Jack Kucek will pitch for the pale hose while ex-Cub Joe Decker is scheduled to pitch for the Twins.

The ChiSox won it on a three run eighth inning scoring burst.

With the score tied 1-1 in the eighth, Chet Lemon reached first on an error by third baseman Dave McKay and was sacrificed to second by Ralph Garr. Jorge Orta then singled to right, scoring Lemon, and went to third when the ball bounced off Dan Ford for an error.

Carlos May followed with a single to center that scored Orta. Then Jim Spencer, who went 2 for 4 and is 5 for 7 on the season, doubled in May.

The Sox first run came in the second inning on a Jack Brohamer single. Bert Blyleven took the loss for the Twins.

The Twins' only run came in the fourth when Rod Carew walked, stole second and came home on McKay's single.

Montreal dumps Hawks for second series win

MONTREAL (UPI) — Yvan Cournoyer and Jacques Lemaire scored power play goals 14 seconds apart in the second period Tuesday night as the Montreal Canadiens took a 2-0 lead in their best-of-seven Stanley Cup quarterfinal series by defeating the Chicago Black Hawks 3-1.

The third game in the series will be played in Chicago Thursday night.

Phil Russell and Pit Martin were in the penalty box when Cournoyer scored his 55th Stanley Cup playoff goal. He shot the puck from the side of the net and it landed in the opposite corner of the cage past Black Hawks goaltender Tony Esposito.

Lemaire's goal, at 15:05, came as a result of the same power play, with Martin still in the penalty box. Cournoyer fed Lemaire the puck from the corner of the rink and Lemaire banged it past Esposito.

The NAL's leading scorer, Guy Lafleur, got his first playoff goal this year only 12 seconds into the final session. Esposito stopped a drive by Peter Mahovlich but allowed a 20-foot deflection and Lafleur fired the rebound high into the Chicago net.

The Black Hawks' only goal came at 3:55 of the opening period on a power play with Montreal's Murray Wilson in the penalty box. Defense man Bill White drove the puck at Canadiens' goalie Ken Dryden from the blueline and Darcy Rota tipped it into the net.

Chicago had an excellent chance to move in front 2-0 in the second period when J. P. Bordeleau broke in all alone on Dryden but the Canadiens' goalie, who compiled the NHL's leading goals — against average this season, got his pad on the puck.

Esposito injured his right hand in the third period as Wilson's shot made one of the Chicago goalie's fingers bleed badly. Esposito remained in the contest.

The 'rebel' returns; Cubs sign Hundley

The "rebel" is returning home.

Randy Hundley, Chicago Cub catcher and team leader during the Leo Durocher era when the Cubs were a heartbeat away from winning a division title, has signed with the club after a two-year absence.

Traded to the Minnesota Twins after the 1973 season, Hundley played in only 32 games with the Twins in 1974 because of a knee injury. Last season, he played in 74 games for the San Diego Padres but was released before the season began.

He picked up the "rebel" nickname from his original home, Virginia. He played with the Cubs from 1966 to 1973.

Hundley, who still lives in Palatine, has been working out with the Cubs for the past few days in an attempt to earn a spot. He also worked out with the club during part of spring training.

"My knee is not 100 per cent, but I feel I can do what I have to and I can play on it," Hundley said. "I'm itching to play with the Cubs."

Hundley is scheduled to be in uniform for today's game with the New York Mets at Wrigley Field. An announcement on who will be sent down to make room for Hundley is also expected today.

Woman gets USAC license

Janet Guthrie got her championship car license from the United States Auto Club today and heads for Trenton, N.J., this week to use it. But she can't wait until the famous Indianapolis Speedway oval opens next month.

"Janet Guthrie has been granted a 'conditional' championship license," Donald Davidson, a USAC spokesman, said. "There's no stipulation on it. You're a championship driver, but you're being watched, is what it means, I suppose," Davidson said.

"All new drivers are given a 'conditional' license normally for a two-or three-week period," he said.

The first woman entered in the world's richest auto race also hopes to be the first driver on the 2½-mile oval, the site of the 60th annual 500-mile race May 30.

Guthrie, 38, needed the license to compete at Trenton, a 200-miler that has become the dress rehearsal for the big Speedway race.

Dick King, USAC director of competition, issued the license. He pointed out, however, that whether she can compete in the "500" will depend on her rookie driver's test after the track opens May 8.

Muncie inks $1-million Saints pact

The New Orleans Saints Tuesday signed their top draft choice, California running back Chuck Muncie, to a seven-year contract for a reported sum in excess of $1 million.

"This club has never signed its No. 1 choice so early," said Head Coach Hank Stram. "And the length of the contract, seven years, is a precedent for this team."

Stram is on a five-year contract with the Saints.

"I feel wonderful, I couldn't be happier," said Muncie. The 6-2, 220-pound runner was the third player chosen in the 1976 National Football League draft in New York last week.

Sources involved in the negotiations said the contract was worth more than $1 million but less than $1.6 million. However, Stram and Saints owner John Mecom declined to reveal any terms of the contract other than its length.

Muncie was an All-American selection last season and averaged 132.7 yards rushing per game. He scored 15 touchdowns and had the fourth best rushing average in the nation.

Bucks' Costello gets owner's support

James Fitzgerald, the majority stockholder of the Milwaukee Bucks linked in recent days with a move to dump Coach Larry Costello, said Tuesday he will recommend that Costello be rehired.

Fitzgerald, a Janesville, Wis., cable television operator, said he told Costello of his feelings "within the last hour" and felt Costello is "enthusiastic about my support."

The Bucks opened a best-of-three playoff series Tuesday night against the Detroit Pistons.

It was reported that Fitzgerald, who owns about 30 per cent of the Bucks' stock, had offered the coaching job to Hubie Brown of the Indiana Pacers, a former assistant to Costello. Fitzgerald had not gone before the board with his offer.

Soviet 'juniors' to play preps here

The AAU announced Tuesday that a junior basketball team from the Soviet Union will play an eight-game series in this country, opening April 30 at Santa Clara, Calif.

In each city, the Soviets will face a high school All-Star team. Last year, a team from Kiev compiled a 6-1 record in this country while an Indiana All-Star team posted a 1-5 mark in the Soviet Union.

The Russians hold a 17-11 margin over the U.S. in two years of the series, part of an annual exchange between the AAU and the USSR All-Sports Federation.

This year's Soviet team from Moscow won its country's national junior championship.

The remainder of the schedule:

May 2, Los Angeles; May 4, Chattanooga, Tenn.; May 5, Toledo, Ohio; May 7, Cincinnati; May 8, Richmond, Ind.; May 10, Buffalo, N.Y., and May 11, Washington, D.C.

International rules will be used in all games, the AAU said.

Forest View blanks Palatine in girls' softball

Gymnastics

Buehler YMCA

The Buehler girls gymnastic team defeated nine other Northwest YMCAs at the annual Satellite Gymnastic Meet. The meet was held at Navy Pier with approximately 175 entries. Ribbons, plaques and trophies were awarded at the end of the day.

Buehler came in 1st place with 226.15 points, defeating Elmhurst in 2nd with 176.14 and Irving Park 3rd place with 173.65. All three teams were awarded trophies. The meet was an important one, because girls whose teams placed in the top three are now eligible to compete in the State Meet to be held on May 1 at New Trier High School in Winnetka.

Each YMCA team was divided into three age groups (11 and under; 12-14; and 15 and up). Plaques for 1st, 2nd and 3rd were given to the three highest teams in each age category. Buehler's 11 and under won 2nd place, the 12-14 age group won 1st as did the 15 and over. The girls worked very hard to come home with three plaques, a 1st place trophy, and many medals and ribbons. Each individual contributed to make the meet a huge success.

First Place Gold Medal Winners: Martin: Floor Exercise, Ockelmann: Bars, Montgomery: Beam, Floor and All Around.

Second Place Silver Medal Winners: Campbell: Beam, Martin: Tumbling, Montgomery: Bars and Vault, Turcotte: Bars, Hogg: Floor, Vault and All Around.

Third Place Bronze Medal Winners: Betsy Hesch: Bars.

The following girls won ribbons for placing in the top ten of an event: Simoneit, two 8th places, Shipley, a 4th place, Campbell, 4th, 7th and 8th, Martin, 5th, Stamm, two 4th places, Triplett, 6th place, Rostetter, 7th place, Ockelmann, 7th and 8th, Hesch, three 5th places, Turcotte, 4th, 5th and two 6th places, Hogg, two 4th places.

Bowling

At River Rand

Cass Ford won the second half championship of the River Rand Ladies Scratch Trio league at River Rand Bowl with a record of 72-40.

National Seating Co. and Plastic Chemicals tied for second with a record of 67-45.

Hay led the final night's bowling with a 521 series. E. Nosko chipped out a 520, highlighted by a 215 game.

Other high scorers were LaBounty 208-517, Hengst 201-514, Dzik 507, Tomaszewski 507, Hansen 502 and A. Nosko 200.

Hersey falls, 4-1

The Hersey Huskies dropped their baseball opener Tuesday, 4-1, at Holy Cross, but head coach Steve Chernicky was pleased with his team's play, especially that of starting pitcher Todd Walker, who pitched six strong innings after surviving a rugged three-run first.

Two singles, a walk, and an infield error gave Holy Cross a run and kept the bases loaded in the first inning. Then a pitcher-to-home-to first double play try backfired when catcher Mark Knuttel's throw was lost in the sun. Two runs scored on the play.

Hersey scored in the third on a bases-loaded walk to Steve Giannini following two walks and a double by Joe Pusatera. The Huskies left the bases loaded and stranded eight during the game. Holy Cross is now 12-1.

St. Viator rolls

Mike Maude slammed two home runs and drove in five runs as the St. Viator Lions scored in all but two innings to top Proviso East, 12-2, Tuesday.

Lion Gary Schreiber pitched the Lions to their eighth win of the season against five losses.

Schreiber, now 1-1 for the year, struck out six and walked two. Gary Stallworth went the distance for host Proviso, giving up all 12 runs.

St. Viator gets back into conference action today when they host Notre Dame, starting at 4 p.m. The Lions are 1-0 in the East Suburban Catholic Conference.

Paddock racquetball tourney signup at 9 sites

Registration for Paddock Publications first annual racquetball tournament is still open at nine racquetball facilities and all offices of The Herald.

Final entry deadline for the tournament is April 30. Entry fee is $3 for the tournament, which offers nine separate divisions for competition and will culminate with championship finals June 5 and 6.

Men's and Women's A, B, and C divisions along with Men's Seniors (35 years and older), Men's Masters (45 years or older) and Juniors (17 years and younger), will make up tournament levels of competition.

Classification of players will be made by officials at the nine area clubs participating in the event.

Complete tournament rules and regulations can be found in daily ads in The Herald. Information and entry blanks can be obtained through participating clubs and Herald offices at 114 and 217 W. Campbell in Arlington Heights, 601 W. Golf Rd. in Mount Prospect and 113 W. Rockland Rd., Libertyville.

In addition to the $3 entry fee, competitors must pay for court time in the preliminary competition. Court time will be provided without cost in the finals.

The contest is limited to amateurs only. Eighteen trophies will be awarded n the nine divisions including a traveling team trophy. Though a contestant may compete in more than one club tournament by submitting a separate entry fee and registration for each club, he or she may represent just one club and compete in just one division if finals. Membership in that club is a requisite.

Participating clubs are: Arlington Indoor Tennis, Forest View Racquet Club, and Buehler YMCA, all in Palatine; The Court House, Arlington Heights; Poplar Creek, Hoffman Estates; Woodfield Racquet Club, The Court House, and Right Tennis Club, all in Schaumburg; and Northwest Suburban YMCA, Des Plaines.

Schellenberger hits 1:56 as Falcons beat Prospect

Forest View senior Steve Schellenberger ran the state's third-fastest time in the 880-yard run so far this year when he clocked a 1:56.5 in a dual track meet against visiting Prospect Tuesday afternoon.

Schellenberger, who also won the 220 in a state-meet-qualifying time of :22.6, took advantage of the nice weather to rattle off his best half-mile since last summer when he ran a 1:49. In the IHSA state meet last May, the Forest View star took first place with a 1:51.9.

Schellenberger's two victories and two each by Darryl Robinson, Mike Harvey, and Randy Gaitsch led the Falcons to an easy 89-56 win over the Prospect Knights, who had beaten Forest View in an indoor duel earlier in the season when Schellenberger and Harvey were injured.

Schellenberger's 1:56.5 performance came one day after he turned in a 1:59.5 in a dual meet at Elk Grove. Each time he ran virtually unchallenged. Tuesday, he was more than 12 seconds ahead of the second-place finisher.

Still, without being pushed, Schellenberger went out in :57 for the first quarter, right where he wanted to be.

Robinson's victories in the two-mile (9:41.4) and the mile (4:31.8) both came over Prospect sophomore Mark Smith, who ran 9:48.2 and 4:39.8.

Robinson, the Mid-Suburban's indoor mile and two-mile champ, clocked his best outdoor times of the year.

Harvey, too, recorded his best outdoor effort in the triple jump, winning with a 43-1. He won the long jump in 19-5½. Teammate Randy Gaitsch whipped the discus 149-3 and put the shot 48-7 ½for a double victory.

Forest View sophomore Kurt Jones won the 100-dash in :10.2.

Prospect's Jim Wright won the high hurdles (:15.1) and the lows (:39.8) and contributed to the Knights' :44.8 in the 440-relay.

Prospect leads in MSL tennis

by CHARLIE DICKINSON
Tennis Editor

The status quo shifted slightly in Mid-Suburban League tennis Tuesday.

A former player of Arlington head coach Tom Pitchford, Bruce Starek the coach at Hersey, saw his No. 1 doubles team of Kip Hahn and Bill Rymsza knock off Arlington 2-6, 6-4, 6-4 to avert a shutout.

The Cardinals picked up wins from Paul Wei, John Wallner, Pete Burkhardt and the No. 2 doubles team of Blair Johnson and Bob Pionke for a 4-1 win.

Coupled with Prospect's 5-0 job on Buffalo Grove, the Knights took a slim one point lead on the Cardinals and Forest View in the MSL race.

Prospect's three singles players, Dan Hanson, Dave Hughson and Steve Chelberg, won their matches in straight sets and lost just seven games between them.

Forest View improved their record to 3-0 and stayed in a tie with Arlington as they beat Elk Grove 4-1.

The Grens only point came at No. 1 doubles where Bob Curran and Dave Mack stopped Nick Kekos and Doug Majewski 3-6, 7-5, 6-0.

Starek, who is in his first year of coaching the Huskies, had these remarks about stopping his former mentor's habit of shutouts

"I feel it is quite an accomplishment," Starek said. "There's no doubt in my mind that Arlington is one of the finest teams around."

Pitchford remarked, "Their kids just played better than ours."

Palatine holds a one point advantage over the Fremd Vikings as they clobbered the cellar-dwelling Conant Cougars, 5-0.

Orson Faynor and Bob Schuckles, the Cougars first and second singles players, forced Mike Esenberg and Mike Stowe respectively to three sets before falling.

The Vikings lost only one point against Rolling Meadows as they pushed their record to 2-1.

Bob Milligan of Fremd won two close sets from the Mustangs' Brad Weber, 7-6, 7-5 at No. 1 singles. Meadows' only point was picked up by the Jay Brothers, Rod and Jeff, at No. 2 doubles.

Schaumburg's doubles teams of Mitch Borski and Scott Wright and Mark McIntyre and Jerry Hutchinson picked up points to secure the Saxons' first MSL dual meet win of the year, 3-2 over Hoffman Estates.

St. Viator earned a 4-1 East Suburban Catholic Conference win over St. Joseph's.

Jeff Davenport swept to his No. 1 singles win 6-0, 6-0 while P. J. Fleming picked up another singles win for the Lions, 6-4, 6-0.

Maine West stepped out of the Central Suburban League South and took a 4-1 loss at the rackets of New Trier East.

The Warriors only point came at No. 2 doubles where Tom Gebhardt and Bob Wyatt won a tough three-setter, 7-6, 4-6, 6-4.

Just dogs

by Dave Terrill

Time for heartworm checkup

Now is the time to have your dog checked by the veterinarian to determine if heartworms are present. Get it done before the mosquito season starts.

If the dog has heartworms, treatment must be undertaken immediately. If the dog is free of adult heartworms, preventive medication is available and probably will be prescribed by the veterinarian.

For a few cents a day, the dog can be given medicine that will keep him free of the disease. However, medication must be administered daily until the first heavy frost of the year kills the mosquitos.

If your dog is outside a lot during the summer months, he is fair game for every mosquito in the area. The insidious part about the whole thing is that the mosquitos that start the problem number at least 60 species.

Also, even though the disease began some years ago in the south, the problem is widespread and even cases are showing up in Canada. In the United States it is now nation-wide.

Although a dog can lead a nearly normal healthy life at the start with a few heartworms in its system, in advance stages the disease may cause its victim to have difficult breathing, coughing, tire easily, become listless, lose weight or faint. If not detected and controlled with proper treatment, the disease can lead to congestive heart failure and death.

New standard—

The American Kennel Club has approved a revised standard for Whippets as submitted by the American Whippet Club. The new standard appears in the April issue of the Pure-Bred Dogs American Kennel Gazette.

Although it would seem that to change a breed standard would be a simple and easy affair, the work that has to be done by the parent breed club before submitting the revision to the A.K.C. board of directors is tremendous.

Any parent breed club that has been involved knows this and of the revisions on revisions before they become final.

Dogs pant because—

A dog sweats through his mouth. About 20 per cent of the water in his body leaves through exhalation. Less than four per cent leaves through his skin.

With summer about here, that water dish should be kept full and don't forget to change it often. You like a drink of fresh cool water, let your dog have the same.

Barks & Bays—

How long can a dog live without water? Three to five days, says the Gaines Dog Research Center. He could survive 10 times that long if he had water but no food.
